CLOWNING AROUND AND SERIOUS

Emmett Kelley, the famous circus clown, had a laugh with Gov. Ronald Reagan today in his office. Before visiting the Assembly Kelley was a bit more serious when he suggested that as a fellow Republican he hoped Reagan would run for president. (AP Wirephoto)

Marines Rout Human Wave In Big Red Drive

Each Side Uses Tear Gas; Heavy Casualty Report

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. Marines battling one of the biggest forces they have ever encountered in Vietnam beat back a series of human wave asday of a battle that has killed 775 Communists and cost the leathernecks 114 dead and 283 wounded. Each side was using tear gas.

The Marines said 375 Communists were killed today.

Brig. Gen. Foster C. La Hue, assistant commander of the 1st Marine Regiment, said the fighting which first erupted Monday in the coastal areas below Da Nang probably headed off a major Communist offensive in South Vietnam.

RICE PADDY

The battlefield is tree-bordered rice paddy land 13 miles north of the provincial capital of Tam Ky, 40 miles below Da Nang and 360 miles northeast of Saigon. The Communists poured more than 4,000 men into a battle aimed at seizing control of these northern provinces.

The Marine losses in the three days of fighting were almost as high as the death toll of the entire previous week throughout Vietnam when 157 American soldiers were killed and 1,588 wounded. The toll this week could be one of the heaviest of the war.

La Hue said the mixed force of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were fighting from prepared positions and were able to fall back into previously prepared fortifications in the fighting at such close quarters it was often hand-to-hand.

COPTER DOWN

So fierce was the fighting today that medical evacuation helicopters could not get in to lift out the wounded for several hours.

At least one of them was shot down but there was no word on fate of the occupants.

Today was the heaviest battle of the struggle and 226 Communists and 60 Marines were killed, with another 199 Marines wounded. Earlier in the week 150 Communist soldiers and 54 Marines were killed and 84 Marines wounded.

UPI photographer Bill Hall reported from the battlefield that the Communists wore new uniforms and had new weapons. They were equipped with Chinese Communist gas masks which they donned when the Marines laid down tear gas from helicopters. Hall said the Communists also used tear gas.

The battle began late last night when the enemy forces attacked in human waves.

Board Unanimously Backs 'Soul' Of Transit Report

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin Transit District directors last night unanimously and "enthusiastically" endorsed "the soul" of a report by Marin Planning Director Paul C. Zucker on a San Francisco-Marin crossing.

The motion, however, carefully sidestepped recommendations in the report in order "to explore each in more depth." Each of Zucker's seven alternatives, directors agreed, has merit.

The seven are a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge with a separate right-of-way for buses; a tube under the bay for rail rapid transit; a second deck for buses only; a separate right-of-way for buses but no second deck; a Bay Area Rapid Transit District extension from Richmond into Marin; rail transit on the bridge; and use of high-speed water craft.

Directors agreed last night to the limited endorsement of Zucker's report so that he could present it this morning to a meeting of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission.

"Soul of this report," Zucker said, is its emphasis on "an environmentally controlled transit system, rather than merely a transit system." Any solution to the county's transit problems, he noted, "will set the future development pattern of the county for a long time."

"The overriding goal is to conserve the environment," he said. "Any major expansion of automobile facitlites between Main and San Francisco should be firmly rejected by Marin," Zucker insisted.

Thomas D. Hardcastle, Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District director, argued against Zucker's recommendation that buses be allowed free passage over the bridge. The bridge district's charter prevents free toll for any vehicle until the bond issue is retired, he said. Even if bus tolls were eliminated, he added, Greyhound's saving would be only $15,000 a year.

Private autos "are rapidly becoming a serious threat to our very existence," said Hardcastle, "but I do not agree at this point in time that it is either politically feasible or proper to rap the knuckles of our automobile-oriented public and in effect bludgeon them out of the automobiles. Nevertheless, it is essential that we lure the commuter from his automobile."

Noting that "this whole nation since the war has gone hellbent for the automobile," Hardcastle said "the entire emphasis should be transferred to provide successful mass public transportation facilities."

"Unless we put in a public transit system," warned director Peter H. Behr, "this county will significantly suffer from a dearth of persons willing to live here."

"A mass form of transportation, buses or trains, is the solution for Marin County," Zucker told directors, "and it will have to be heavily subsidized."

Fringe Element In Report

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Subversive elements swarmed around the fringes of the Delano grape strike but there was no evidence the strike was directed by Communists, the Senate Un-American Activities Committee said today.

The committee, in its 1967 report to the Senate today, cleared the major farm workers unions of any subversive influence.

". . . Evidence shows that the Delano grape strike was of exception interest to the Communist Party and the leftists who supported it," said the report of the State Senate Factfinding Subcommittee on un-American Activities, headed by Sen. Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno.

PEACE PARADERS

About 50 pages of the report connected some anti-Vietnam war groups in San Francisco and Berkeley with the Communist Party.

"It is the Communist Party's number one task to get the United States out of Vietnam," the report said.

It mentioned peace parades last April in both San Francisco and New York. The report said Communists did not necessarily direct such demonstrations but they were "in accord with the Communist Party cause."

In Delano, grape workers union spokesman Cesar Chavez commented, "We were confident the truth would come out. We will continue to pursue our organization drive wherever and whenever the workers want the union."

NOT CONNECTED

The report was accepted by the Senate with no debate or discussion.

The report contended that members of the Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee and the majority of members of the National Farm Workers Association "were in no way con-

Some Residents In Marin Feel Light Quake

Sleeping residents in scattered parts of Marin were jarred awake at 5:39 a.m. today by a light earthquake.

No damage was reported.

The University of California seismograph station at Berkeley said the temblor rolled along the San Andreas Fault from Hollister north.

Houses shook and hundreds of residents were awakened in San Francisco and the Salinas Valley.

A second, somewhat stronger, shock was reported at 6:46 a.m. This one apparently was not felt in Marin, however.

In Marin, a San Anselmo resident who said she experienced the famous 1906 earthquake reported of the first shock:

"I knew what it was right away. It went by from north to south."

Larkspur firemen were shaken awake, as was Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woddington.

Said a Reedlands resident: "The bed shook. I felt like jelly being shaken."

Seismologists at Berkeley said the first quake centered near the fault 12 miles southwest of Gilroy. The intensity was between three and four on the Richter Scale.

The second temblor was fixed at 5.5 on the scale, and

Thomas Peryam Is Dead At 78

Thomas W. Peryam, Marin County's state agricultural commissioner from 1932 to 1960, died yesterday at a Sacramento hospital after a lengthy illness. He was 78 years old.

He lived in San Anselmo from 1932 until a year and a half ago, when he went to Sacramento to live with his daughter, Mrs. Emblin G. Shotts.

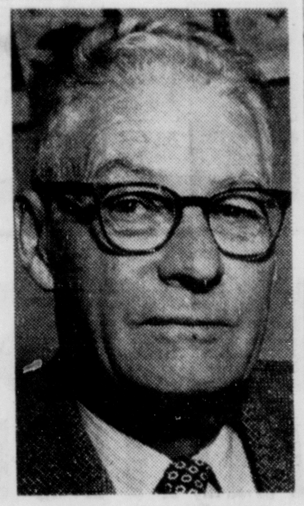
Peryam was born in Encampment, Wyo., and was a graduate of the University of Wyoming.

He began his career with the U.S. Indian Service, followed by two years with the U.S. Biological Survey.

During World War I, he served in France with the Army's Veterinary Corps. After the war, he attended the University of London where he received a degree in biology.

Paryam came to Marin in 1932 as agricultural commissioner after serving since 1925 in Santa Cruz County as agricultural inspector.

He was a member of Marin Lodge No. 191, Free and Accepted Masons; American Legion Post No. 179, San Anselmo, a life member of the Marin County Farm Bureau and past president of the Marin Historical Society.



THOMAS W. PERYAM
Agricultural commissioner

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Shotts; a son, Richard C. Peryam of Texas; two brothers, John and George Peryam; a sister, Dorothy Shapcott, and four grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Monday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, San Rafael. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Israel, Egypt Trade Accusations, Firing

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Arab-Israeli cease-fire was breached again last night and today by firing across the Suez Canal and the Jordan River.

Israel and Egypt each blamed the other for the firing across the canal. An Egyptian communique said five civilians were wounded slightly and several buildings hit in a two-hour machine-gun and artillery duel near Ismailia, midway along the canal. No Israeli casualties were reported.

The shooting ended at midnight after intervention by U.N. cease-fire observers. Each nation prepared a complaint to the United Nations in New York.

An Israeli spokesman said Jordanian troops opened fire on an Israeli patrol today about 3 and one-half miles south of the Allenby Bridge in the Jericho region. The Israelis returned the fire, he said, and there were no Israeli casualties.

There was no immediate comment from Jordan.

Egyptian and Israeli forces fought for seven hours across the canal Monday, and Egyptian authorities claimed that the Israeli shelling of the Red Sea port of Suez killed 44 civilians and wounded 170, wrecked 40 homes and damaged many more.

That battle was followed by an exchange of fire across the canal Tuesday night and by a duel between Jordanian and Israeli forces across the Jordan River Tuesday.

At the United Nations, Egypt blamed Israel for triggering Monday's naval and artillery battle despite a report from a team of U.N. truce observers that the Egyptians shot first.

Teachers Get Court Backing In Michigan

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Michigan Court of Appeals today supported a "no contract, no work" vow by more than 20,000 striking teachers. The decision blocked efforts to mandate teachers back into their classrooms by court decree.

School strikes also were in progress or in prospect in New York City, East St. Louis, Ill., Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Paducah, Ky., and Randolph, Mass. In addition, the largest school in Newark, N.J., was crippled by a parents' strike.

TO PROCEED

The Michigan court suspended an Ottawa County Circuit Court order which would have forced 230 teachers in Holland back to their classrooms today. However, school authorities in many strikebound districts planned to proceed with court action.

Teacher boycotts have shut school doors "until further notice" in Detroit and 34 Michigan smaller communities. Half a million children were on the second day of an extended summer vacation today when schools were closed indefinitely by teachers who pledged they would not work without higher pay and smaller class loads.

Yesterday, a circuit court in Ottawa County had ordered 250 teachers back to school in Holland.

STILL DETERMINED

In Saginaw, the second largest city affected, the school board still was determined to ask the courts for an injunction requiring 1,007 teachers back to their jobs. A Michigan law prohibits strikes by public employees.

One potential strike was settled. Classes opened again in Groton, Conn., after teachers won a new contract calling for $38,000 more in wage boosts than the school board had originally offered.

THE SYNANON STORY

Tomorrow's Goal: A Center For 1,000

By BRUCE COLEMAN
(Last of three parts)

Perched beautifully above Tomales Bay at Marshall, Synanon House prides itself on being able to successfully rehabilitate drug addicts.

It has 87 residents today—five times the number it had upon opening three years ago.

Tomorrow it aims to be a "Communiversity" of 1,000 to 1,500 people.

A communiversity, according to Ron Silva who leaves this week for Synanon, Santa Monica, after being director for three years, "is an intentional community."

Synanon is situated on 65 acres of the former Marconi Trans-Pacific Radio network, and more land is being sought.

Foundations are being laid for the organization's first new construction — a town hall to include a 700-seat assembly hall, kitchen and eight conference and game rooms. It is to be completed in a year.

The hall is the first building in a 10-year, $3.5 million building program which will include residential units and an academic complex with library, lecture halls and seminar rooms. An amphitheater, near the hall, is planned for 5,000 people.

"We started with the most difficult building first," said Silva, "which doesn't make much sense unless one is a non-profit organization trying to raise money."

Designed by architects Kaplan and McLaughlin of San Francisco, the town hall is being built on land which Silva de-

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republicans again turned back Democratic attempts to override Gov. Ronald Reagan's vetoes today. But Assembly Democrats, refusing to give up the fight, extended the legislature's veto session into another day.

Led by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, the lower house Democratic bloc pushed through a motion to continue the session until tomorrow morning—the last day of the special session held to give legislators a chance to save their bills from the gubernatorial veto.

The vote was 48-8, with some Republicans joining Democrats and others not voting.

Car Workers Close Ford

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers closed giant Ford Motor Co. with a massive nationwide strike today and Henry Ford II called for laws to halt "this kind of bludgeon against the public interest."

Pickets ringed 91 of Ford's 93 factories in 25 states as nearly 160,000 UAW members, many of them glowing with the solidarity spirit of the '30s, hit the bricks in the first nationwide auto strike in three years.

In California pickets were out at the Pico Rivera plant, east of Los Angeles and at Milpitas, near San Francisco.

Most of the 2,600 workers at Pico Rivera are UAW members. The Milpitas plant employs 3,800, of whom 3,200 are union members.

The strike's economic effects were quick. Ford workers were cut off from $5.7 million a day in wages and fringe benefits, swapping their paychecks for

France, Poland May Stop War In Vietnam: DeGaulle

WARSAW (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle conferred for two hours and 10 minutes today with Polish leaders on world problems including Vietnam and his reported proposal to enlist Communist help in ending the conflict there.

De Gaulle told an official reception last night Poland and France might be able to work together to bring the war to an end—the first time he is known to have proposed working directly with a Communist nation on the subject.

De Gaulle's own views on Vietnam closely parallel those of the Communist world. He has said repeatedly the only way the war can end is for American troops to withdraw and that a firm promise to do so must be the basis for peace talks.

Today's meeting was De-Gaulle's only formal meeting with President Edward Ochab and Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz before he begins a tour of the provinces and disputed Polish territory that was once part of Germany. He is expected to defend Poland's right to the territories in speeches during his weeklong visit.

He said France's traditional

Governors Don't Back Romney 'Brainwashing'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney's charge that he was brainwashed on Vietnam war policy during a 1966 visit to Saigon has drawn no support from nine other governors who accompanied him.

Most of the Democratic governors who made the trip with Romney, a likely candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year, rapped his assessment of briefings given the touring politicians by military and diplomatic officials.

CHARITABLE

The Republican governors were more charitable, saying Romney may have received information they didn't. But none agreed they were exposed to attempted brainwashing.

The controversy started by Romney's comment — made Monday as the governor was explaining his shift of stance on Vietnam policy—was front page news in Saigon's English-language newspapers.

It all started when a television interviewer asked Romney what had changed his earlier view that U.S. involvement in Vietnam was morally right and necessary.

BRAINWASHING

"When I got back from Vietnam," replied Romney, "I just had the greatest brainwashing that anybody can get when you go over to Vietnam. Not only by the generals but also by the diplomatic corps over there, and they did a very thorough job."

Democratic Gov. Philip H. Hoff of Vermont, one of those who traveled with Romney, said of the charge: "Who the hell is he to say it was brainwashing? Either he's a most naive man or he lacks judgment."

Another Democrat, Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, said he saw "absolutely no evidence" of attempts to influence the governors' viewpoints.

NO WASH

Rhode Island Gov. John Chafee, considered a GOP vice presidential hopeful in 1968, said he didn't feel he was brainwashed, but added: "I don't want to disagree with what someone else felt."

Republican Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana called the briefings "realistic" while Democratic Gov. John Burns of Hawaii said he could "find no justification for Governor Romney's statement."

Those other governors who traveled with Romney to Saigon included Democrat Carl Sanders of Georgia, and Republicans Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming, John H. Reed of Maine and Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma.

Pacific's Board Approves Merger Of Airline Trio

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A merger of West Coast, Bonanza and Pacific Air Lines has been approved by Pacific's board of directors, and the board chairman says he hopes the merged line can be in business by Jan. 1.

However, yesterday's approval by the Pacific directors still must be approved by boards of the other two, stockholders of all three and the federal government.

Daniel Grace, Pacific's board chairman, said if the merger does go through the airline would serve eight states, and dip into Canada. Ninety cities would be served.

The 3,000 employees of the three separate firms would be retained by the merged business, Grace said.

Wide Variety Of Products To Cost More

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices are headed up on a wide variety of products ranging from trucks to tennis balls.

The increases mean that the consumer will have to reach deeper into his pocket today for transportation, home building and furnishing, and leisure time activities.

Manufacturers contend that higher prices are necessary to meet rising costs of materials, labor, freight and taxes.

STEEL BARS

The price of steel bars, which are used for such things as industrial fasteners and railroad axles, has just gone up 1.8 per cent.

Earlier the steel companies had raised prices on hot rolled carbon and high strength plates, tinplate and tubular products. So far this year the increases have covered more than 40 per cent of industry shipments.

Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co. tentatively raised the wholesale prices of their 1968 model cars $100, which would mean an extra $125 at retail. General Motors Corp. didn't disclose its intentions, but it was considered likely that GM would take similar action.

COLOR TV

Chrysler and Ford said their raises were due not only to higher material and labor costs but to the antismog and safety devices required on 1968 models.

Radio Corp. of America boosted prices of 46 of its 1968 model color television sets 2 to 3 per cent—$10 to $55 on sets costing $479.95 to $1,650.

RCA said the raises were to "offset steadily rising labor and material costs which have spiraled far beyond our expectations in the past 90 days since we priced our 1968 models."

A tennis player is going to have to pay 10 cents more for a can of three balls manufactured by General Tire & Rubber Co.

Price increases have been widespread recently in the rubber industry and cover tires and tubes; automotive belts, conveyor belts, hose and other industrial products; shoe soles and heels; vinyl flooring and counter topping, and some plastic film and sheeting.

Admiral Corp. announced this week it will raise the prices of selected 1968 model refrigerators, freezers and room air conditioners 1.5 to 3 per cent.

SEN. GEORGE MOSCONE
Beats Alfred H. Song

Sen. Moscone Democratic Leader Now

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco yesterday was elected new Senate Democratic leader by a vote of 11-6.

He teamed up with members of the Senate's old guard Democratic establishment to beat Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park.

Song had been chairman of the Senate Democratic Caucus formed this year, but a 12-5 vote eliminated that job, combining it with Moscone's new leadership post.

Song had ired some of the Senate oldtimers with his hints that Democrats might bolt the party and oppose Senate President Pro Tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, for re-election to that job next year. He also had criticized the Senate's prized seniority system, loudly demanding more power for younger, more liberal Democrats.

Moscone pledged to support Burns and backed a "flexible seniority system." Considered just as liberal as Song, freshman Moscone has shown a greater ability to get along with the more conservative veterans who run the house.

Russian Poet Hit

MOSCOW (AP) —The Kremlin-controlled Union of Soviet Writers has blasted a letter by liberal poet Andrei A. Voxnesensky accusing the union of lying about its refusal to let him go to New York for a literary engagement.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two more Black Panther party members received jail sentences yesterday for disturbing the Assembly in May.

Court Decision By Monday On Medi-Cal Fund Cutbacks

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A decision is due no later than Monday on whether the Reagan administration can go ahead with cutbacks in the free medical care for the poor program, or must hold off while carrying its case to a higher court.

The judge who is hearing the current case blocking imposition of the cuts said after a one-day hearing yesterday that he will rule as soon as possible, but no later than Monday.

Sacramento Superior Court Judge Irving Perluss said his decision on the vital matter will hinge on three state laws, and whether the administration was empowered by them to reduce services in the Medi-Cal program.

Citing above-budgeted spending rates, the governor had ordered the cutbacks to be effective Sept. 1. But that was blocked when Sheldon Green of Modesto filed suit on behalf of a client whose planned operation was cancelled by the proposed cutback.

In testimony yesterday, the man who administers the program said he felt sure the federal government would not withdraw matching funds it provides for the multi-million-dollar program, just because the state reduces or eliminates some services. Carel Mulder said the revisions in Medi-Cal were allowable by federal standards.

George Amaroli Files For Water Board Post

George A. Amaroli, 34, an engineer with the state Public Utilities Commission in San Francisco, has announced he will run for a seat on the North Marin Water District Board in the Nov. 7 election.

Amaroli, who lives at 11 Rebecca Way, Novato, will be competing with incumbents Arnold E. Heise, chairman; Emil Renati and Franklin Gustafson, who have already taken out nomination papers.

Deadline for filing nomination papers is Sept. 18.

Amaroli, a Novato resident for 10 years, is head of the PUC tariff unit in communications and formerly worked for Hughes Aircraft as senior field engineer at Hamilton Air Force Base.

"My basic platform is reduced water rates and/or tax rate and to represent the Taxation After Balloting on major capital improvement issues," he said.

The contender was active with the Taxation After Balloting committee which started a recall movement in 1965 against then-Mayor Robert D. Carrow and councilman Lucille Cannon for their support of the 30-cent tax rate for park acquisition and development. This movement was abandoned. The committee participated in budget sessions for 1966-67 with the Novato City Council and other Novato governmental agencies.

Three Girls Killed, Woman Wounded By Alabama Man

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI)—A rejected suitor kicked down the door of his girl friend's house early today and stalked through it with a gun and a knife, killing three young girls and wounding a 46-year-old woman, police said.

"Where's Cathy? Where's Cathy?" the crazed youth cried as he killed two of his girl friend's sisters.

ESCAPES

Cathy Sinclair, a 20-year-old college student, hid in a closet and escaped harm.

Three murder warrants were issued for Edward Albert Seibold, 21, a dropout from Auburn University and the son of a Tulane University instructor.

The victims were identified as Mary Lynn Sinclair, 9, her sister Sarah Elizabeth, 18, and Mary Durant, 8, a professor's daughter who was spending the night with the Sinclairs. Mrs. Juanita Cathy Sinclair, the girls' widowed mother, who was also a teacher at Auburn, was wounded by a shotgun blast in the arm.

BEFORE MIDNIGHT

Police Chief Fred Hammock said Seibold came to the back door of the tri-level house in this quiet university town shortly before midnight.

"He kicked the door in," said Hammock. "Kicked it right off the hinges—right out from the woodwork." Mrs. Sinclair, he said, had been asleep on a couch in the downstairs den.

"Eddie, please don't, please don't," Hammock said she cried.

"Seibold leveled a 12-guage bolt action shotgun at her and fired, wounding her in the arm," Hammock said. Mrs. Sinclair lay still, the chief said, and was not further harmed.

SEWING ROOM

Hammock said Cathy Sinclair, 20, a student at Wellesley College in Massachusetts and the object of Siebold's affections was in a downstairs sewing room. Cathy tried to escape through a window but couldn't get one open, he said, so she locked herself in a closet.

"Siebold came in the room but didn't see her and left," Hammock said. "He then went to the kitchen and pulled out a drawer and grabbed a steak knife, then continued through the house." Hammock said Seibold then started up the stairs toward the bedrooms. At the top of the stairs he encountered Sarah Elizabeth and stabbed her to death with the knife.

Then, Hammock said, he found Mary Lynn and her visitor, Mary, sleeping in the same bed and shot and stabbed them to death.

Corte Madera's share of the Larkspur-Corte Madera summer recreation program cost totals $3,051, the commission learned.

The first quake shook the communities of Hollister, Gilroy, Watsonville and Santa Cruz "pretty severely," according to a police dispatcher.

In the East Bay, only a few residents in Oakland and Berkeley felt the quake. Police at peninsula communities south of San Francisco reported receiving many calls from residents, but no damage reports.

"Many thought it was a sonic boom," said an officer.

nected with any of the New Left or subversive organizations that swarmed to Delano."

The two unions later merged. The union's struck in 1965 and included a march from Delano to the Capitol steps on Easter Sunday 1966. The strike continues against some of the farming firms involved.

The committee reported, "We are saying that outsiders entered the Delano strike for the purpose of using it for their own purposes and also that the leaders of the unions were perhaps carried away with the idea of achieving power to dictate terms to the growers and to some extent to the state and federal government."

Names of many prominent persons who became involved in the strike in some way were mentioned throughout the 130 typewritten pages of the report, signed by all five committee members. They included Steve Allen, the television personality, and Stokley Carmichael, former head of the Student Non-Violating Coordinating Committee.

But the Senate committee said "no influence of subversive affiliation or action should be made soley because a name is mentioned."

The report also detailed activities of groups if the Berkeley area in support of the strike. The senators noted that members of the American Federation of Teachers in Berkeley held rallies and cocktail parties to raise funds for the strikers.

The strike began Sept. 8, 1965 when field workers led by the AFL-CIO Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee refused to work. The National Famr Workers Association joined a week later.

Clergymen, labor leaders, students, civil rights workers and others soon joined the picket lines. There was some violence on the picket lines.

The leader was 39-year-old Cesar Chavez, director of the NFWA. He had attempted to organize farm field workers in 1952.

STRIKE

$20 to $30 a week in strike benefits. Layoffs in trucking and other fringe industries began hours after the strike was launched.

Ford's competitors, General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp., said their car factories were running smoothly today although a G.M. refrigerator plant in Dayton, Ohio, was closed by an unexpected walkout of its employees, members of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Ford and the UAW said they planned no more negotiations until Monday and observers said all indications pointed to a long walkout. The two sides apparently were as far apart as when bargaining began July 10.

Ford, the firm's $615,000-a-year chairman and grandson of its founder, called the strike "totally unjustified and completely unnecessary."

No production interruption at G.M. or Chrysler was anticipated although their UAW contracts, ilke Ford's, expired at midnight yesterday.

The two firms refused to extend the present contract, a move to compound union troubles since UAW dues no longer will be deducted from worker paychecks, but promised to keep their plants running and maintain the same wages and fringe benefits.

The strike hit Ford at a tough competitive time, just before introduction of 1968 models, the auto industry's traditional period of booming production, unrestrained optimism and massive sales campaigns.

Ford said it had between 80,000 and 85,000 1968 models already built and would introduce them Sept. 22. But a company spokesman said the '68's, plus 150,000 leftover 1967 models probably would be sold out within a month.

FOOD for THOUGHT

China was one of the last few countries, in our busy world, where eating remained a fine art. By virtue of their ample leisure, they were able to maintain the standard of culinary art achieved in the historical era of famous epicureans.

Chinese dishes require extremely long and careful preparation, but though the food is rich, it is very seldom greasy. Favorite and characteristic dishes of the Chinese are: Tsau Hoen Ning, Iah Tsi Chi, Bird's Nest Soup, Water Lily seeds, steamed with candy.

Multi-Vehicle Crash Driver Hospitalized

A Eureka truck driver remained in good condition today in Novato General Hospital in the wake of a three-vehicle accident that killed two other drivers on Highway 101 in Novato yesterday.

Manuel R. Damos, 29, escaped from the wreck with multiple cuts, scrapes and bruises.

Highway patrolmen said Damos' southbound lumber truck triggered the accident, which took the lives of Mark Lee Hollars, 33, a Novato milkman, and Gerhart E. Lazare, 41, a Santa Rosa bartender.

No citation has been filed against Damos, the highway patrol said today.

The first chemical crop dusting by air was by an airplane in Ohio in 1921.

Careful Plan Leaves Few Bank Theft Clues

SANTA ROSA (AP) — A recovered getaway car was about the only clue FBI agents and Sonoma County sheriff's deputies had to work on today in an intricate $33,000 bank robbery at nearby Forestville.

But the working method of three masked bandits was enough to brighten the day for any mystery story reader.

So carefully was yesterday's holdup planned that the bandits forced a janitor to shake a footmat outside the bank's front door, just as he always did. They wanted to make sure nobody suspected what was going on inside—where they were waiting for a time lock to permit opening of the vault.

Further evidence of planning came when Jack Long, Bank of Sonoma County president, noted the job was pulled on one of only two days when his Forestville branch held that much cash. The money came from holiday weekend deposits from Russian River resorts. The Forestville branch's other big day is July 5.

The gunmen waited at the home of bank manager Robert Aldridge, 51, the night before the job and one by one kidnaped his son, David, 20; the manager's wife, Marda, 49, and Aldridge. The son was returning from an evening out, the mother from a visit to a sister and the manager from a poker game at the Odd Fellows Club.

Just before dawn they took the Aldridges to the bank and at 6:35 a.m. they kidnaped janitor Tom Fish as he arrived for work. At 7:30 a.m. the time lock worked and they forced the manager to open the vault. After taking the loot, the trio tied up their hostages and fled.

David Aldridge got loose first and freed his father.

Deputies found the getaway car, a blue sedan, abandoned two miles south of Forestville. It had been stolen Tuesday near Third and Townsend streets in San Francisco, they said.

WARNING TOO LATE

The 55,900 acre Sundance fire at Priest Lake, Ida., missed this sign warning children not to play with matches. The northern Idaho fire is expected to be under control by next week; firemen still have 22 miles to go to encircle it. Unofficial estimates say damage in this and other recent fires in the state will run to $22 million. (AP Wirephoto)

Yacht Club Decision Stalled By Tie Votes

The Sausalito Yacht Club was hung on the horns of two 3-3 Sausalito Planning Commission votes last night in its attempt to add another section to its waterfront clubhouse.

The commission split on a motion to deny the variance request and on a motion to approve it.

Voting for the applicant both times were commissioners Murray Smith, Alan D. Bonapart and Walter Thomson. Voting against were Hendrick J. Keizer, Robert L. Nissen and George C. Hoffman.

A seventh commissioner present, Theodore T. Boutmy, was architect for the building and abstained. Commissioners Roy Starbird and Norman Murdoch were absent.

The commission told club representative John Koenig to return Oct. 4 when more commissioners may be present and a decisive vote possible.

The building's original plans included the addition sought, but the club did not have money for the entire building then. Since the building was built, the area was rezoned an open area district, which does not provide for yacht clubs, and the building is now non-conforming.

The commission also reached no decision on a use permit requested by Smith Ketchum to allow building a four-unit apartment at 428 Turney Street, and asked Ketchum to consider other layouts for the proposal.

The commission agreed to recommend the city council adopt a parking requirement for restaurants of one space for each three seats. The requirement has been one space for each four seats or one space for each 50 square feet of floor area. The council had asked for a new recommendation.

Commissioners approved a proposal by A. M. and F. W. Roumage to split a 27,070 square foot parcel at 520 Sausalito Boulevard into four lots.

Truck Is Located, But Not Paintings

San Anselmo police yesterday recovered a pickup truck less than two hours after it was reported stolen, but $295 worth of paintings were missing from it.

Russell D. Chatham of 292½ Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, reported the theft of his 1950 Chevrolet pickup from in front of his house at 8:22 a.m. Police found it at 10 a.m. parked behind the Knot Inn, 300 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Chatham said five paintings were missing.

Good Schools May Not Aid Slum Child

SAN FRANCISCO (SS) — Schools — no matter how well equipped, good-looking, or "suburban" in style — may be completely inadequate to properly educate the American slum child, a group of educators agreed here recently.

The educators, who spoke here at the annual American Sociological Association meeting, called for more radical departures than schools have yet provided.

Key to the discussion was the Coleman-Campbell Report on American schools — a national survey of the relationship between school quality and educational achievement. That report demonstrates only a weak link between quality — such as school facilities and teacher background — and student achievement.

It also shows that disadvantaged children, particularly Negro school children, come to the first grade with very large deficits in their readiness to learn. Because of this deficit the educational attack must come very early in a child's life, before nursery school, said Dr. William H. Sewell, incoming chancellor of the University of Wisconsin.

The government's pre-school Head Start program is a partial answer, he said, but it should start earlier, about the age of two, and take many more hours of the child's day. (Head Start now generally starts between four and five years and takes an hour or two.)

Schools may not be able to do the job, said Dr. Sewell. "It may take a completely different organization to do this."

Head Start is not handled by local school boards, but by the Federal War on Poverty.

School Custodian Arrested On Reckless Driving Charge

Andrew Joseph Weber, 42, of 200 Redwood Avenue, Woodacre, custodian of Del Mar School, Tiburon, was arrested yesterday on charges of reckless driving and disturbing the peace.

Sheriff's Lt. William Johansen reported he answered a call from the school at 3:45 p.m. that a custodian was acting strangely.

As he approached, Johansen said, he saw a group of teachers standing around the suspect's car. He said Weber hurled "several profane remarks" at him, then drove his car out of the school parking lot at a high speed, narrowly missing the patrol car.

Weber headed south on Avenida Miraflores "in an erratic manner." Johansen said the car fishtailed twice, then drove in a complete 360 degree angle around the cement divider at the Tiburon Boulevard intersection and headed northbound up Avenida Miraflores.

Johansen reported he blocked the path of Weber's car by driving the patrol car in front of him. Weber said he had been fired by school officials, according to Johansen.

Weber was held at the county jail in lieu of $220 bail.

Del Mar School principal Robert A. Gaw said today the man had not been fired at the time of the incident yesterday. Supt. H. Joe Edgington commented that Weber "has been suspended from his duties until further investigation and action can be taken."

Johansen said Weber passed a roadside sobriety test.

A Sonic Boom

An SR-71 aircraft operating out of Edwards Air Force Base near Los Angeles was believed to have caused a sonic boom heard in the North Marin area at 11:05 a.m. today a Hamilton Air Force Base spokesman said.

Hub Boy Fair From Accident

A 6-year-old San Anselmo boy was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after he tried to climb onto a truck as it was backing from a driveway and he fell under its wheels yesterday in San Anselmo, according to San Anselmo police.

Michael Childs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Childs of 19 San Rafael Avenue, San Anselmo, suffered a fractured pelvis and internal injuries, cuts and bruises.

Police said Donald G. Taylor, 38, of 12 Austin Avenue, San Anselmo, was backing a milk truck out of a private driveway behind the American Family Steak House, 726 San Anselmo Avenue, at 12:39 p.m. when the boy tried to climb onto the back of the truck. Two of the truck's four rear wheels ran over him, and police said there were tire marks on his back.

Apartment Looted Of $1,225 In Items

A burglar took $1,225 worth of goods from the apartment of Jeane Gould, 711 Meadow Sweet Drive, Corte Madera, yesterday between 1 and 5 p.m., according to Corte Madera police.

Police said someone forced open the front door and took jewelry, a blue fox stole, a stereo, an electric typewriter and two valuable Chinese figurines.

'COMMUNIVERSITY'—Present Synanon structures are shown on lower level while the town hall, for which foundations are now being laid, is to be built above. Architects are Kaplan and McLaughlin, San Francisco. The master plans calls for a "communiversity."

Synanon Embarks On 10-Year, $3.5 Million Building Program

scribes as "always moving." The San Andreas fault runs down the center of Tomales Bay.

To conquer any earthquake problems, engineers have decided the slope will be drained to keep excess moisture from the area and deep spread footings six feet below ground will connect with grade beams to anchor the building in place. The beams are expected to resist lateral seismic loads.

A system of long open spans of steel framework with movable internal partitions—called a flexible space system and developed by Ford Foundation and Stanford University—will be used. Town Hall, too, will reportedly have the first computer-determined truss system in the world.

"Town hall would go for $327,000," noted Silva, "but is being done by guys who never did anything but steal, shoot dope and lie most of their lives."

Silva added: "We'll do it for cost of materials and that material is contributed by local citizens."

Also currently under construction is a $25,000 sewage treatment plant. "We are probably the first to do this in West Marin," said Silva. "We intend not to pollute the bay." The facility is being built under direction of Daniel Yanow of San Anselmo, Synanon's mechanical engineer.

In Synanon's future, too, may be more juvenile delinquent residents. There are now five which normally would be in Marin's Juvenile Hall.

Asked to comment on the recent Board of Supervisors discussion at which time one supervisor suggested that more juveniles be sent to Synanon, thus reducing the tax rate, Silva said: "We should get these kids because we can do something about them. Our correctional institutions have dismally failed."

How would Synanon work with juveniles?

"The same as for any resident," replied Silva. "We bump heads this way. We have our methods of doing things. They are not the usual methods . . .

"They say the only way to test an addict is to give a urine test. We say 'no.' If you enjoy worshipping urine, worship your own. For anybody living here, we will not allow them to have 'nailing' (an opium derivative given to a person to determine if he has used drugs) or urine tests. They have tried it for 40 years and it doesn't work.

"Drug addiction is a terminal disease. You die with it. Marin County has moved around to saying, 'You're 10 years old. You do have statistics. We want you to do that for our people.' This is because of closer understanding on the part of the supervisors and it is lacked in other facilities.

"By demonstration, we prove to be part of the responsible community. Anybody who joins must do that."

Synanon has one milk cow and 15 to 20 calves and eventually plans to provide its own meat. It has eight to 10 vehicles. It participates in the Novato City Softball League.

It has "repeaters" but Silva would not disclose the figures. "If there are drop-outs," he said, "and they leave Synanon, their primary motive is to use drugs. So they go to an area they were familiar with so they can score. They don't hang out around Marshall."

This reporter and I-J photographer Bob Hax had lunch with Silva, Vincent Ferrovecchio and Robert Newman. All were drug addicts, all are now employees but receive no salary. All three are married. Silva, 29, has no children; Newman, 30, and his wife have two who are planning to join him at Synanon and Ferrovecchio, 29, smiled and said, "I think one is on the way."

"This is a young organization," said Silva. "Our average age is 27."

There is a day care center at Synanon where children are cared for so all adults can be involved in the program. Newcomers who are addicts are not permitted to bring their children since, as Silva explains, "an addict is a baby."

"Everybody who lives in Synanon works in Synanon," said Silva. "Every day a person is a resident in Synanon he accumulates one 'clean man day.' . . . On graduation, we write letters of recommendation vouching for a guy's character when he leaves to look for a job. There is no ceremony, no certificates for a graduate. Most people spend about a year at Marshall, then "are graduated" from a larger facility such as Santa Monica.

"We try to keep the cream of the crop. There are dope fiend institutions who come up and try to hire our people all the time. Those who stay, we don't bribe. We don't pay salaries. If we don't keep them, we can't get them from any place else."

Speaking of the future, Ferrovecchio said: "Synanon is the beginning of something new. Once we get started, just watch it. We will do something no one has done in his life. We have already done it with addicts."

Films By Bay Area Maker To Be Seen

Three films, including two by Bay Area movie-maker Bruce Baillie, will be shown at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday by the Marin Center for the Performing Arts at the Municipal Golf clubhouse, 267 Buena Vista Avenue.

Baillie will speak on films and film-making both nights. Films to be shown are his "Castro Street" and "On Sunday," and a third film, "Parable," which was shown at the New York World Fair.

Mayor Of Berkeley Urges A BART Probe

OAKLAND (AP)—Berkeley's Mayor Wallace Johnson, speaking yesterday before the Alameda County Conference of Mayors, proposed an investigation of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

"In view of BART's bankrupt financial status and its continually revised estimates of its enormous deficit, there is a lack of public confidence in BART's policies and managerial competence," he said.

Marin Flood Damage Fund Plea Considered By State

Marin's request for $174,561 in state aid for last January's flood damages has reached the State Department of Finance, Assistant Public Works Director Mario Balestrieri reported today.

Balestrieri said he does not know when the department of finance will act on the request. Chances of Marin's receiving state aid look "quite favorable at this point," he added.

Among major damage caused by the winter storms were slides on Wolfe Grade near San Rafael, Hillcrest Avenue and Almonte Boulevard near Mill Valley, and the loss of a bridge on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Point Reyes. Replacement of the Point Reyes Bridge cost $55,000. Total damages came to about $390,000.

Under the state emergency flood relief law, Marin put in for state reimbursement of $174,561.

The State Division of Highways in San Francisco audited the application, confirming the physical damages in Marin. The division of highways has submitted the request to Sacrament ,Balestrieri reported.

Drunken Driving Conviction Turns To Speed Case

Richard Arthur Boyd, 56, Kentfield lawyer originally convicted last Sept. 30 of drunken driving, yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to an amended complaint of speeding.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. fined him $50.

Boyd, of 10 Tree Top Way, was granted a new trial by Judge Goldstein on the drunken driving conviction on grounds that new evidence was discovered. The judge also found there was prejudicial conduct by the trial judge, the late Leonard A. Thomas, in wrongfully scolding defense counsel in the presence of the jury, and by Leonard Shaw, assistant district attorney, for what he termed improper questioning.

In filing the amended complaint of speeding, which dismisses the drunken driving complaint, Shaw said the reasons were Judge Goldstein's indication that the new evidence would likely result in Boyd's acquittal in a second trial, and that Marin Superior Appellate Court has upheld the judge's action.

Fiery Object In Sky Is Balloon With A Candle

Larkspur firemen received a phone call reporting a fiery object in the sky over Larkspur yesterday at 8:31 p.m.

They couldn't see it, but at 8:41 p.m. another call reported that it had come to earth at 22 Olive Avenue. Firemen found in a tree there a balloon about eight feet across, with a candle attached to it to make it float.

Firemen noted that to send such a thing into the sky is against state law, and that if it came down in the wrong place with the candle still burning it could easily start a forest fire.

Governor's Foreign Farm Worker Plea Turned Down

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The federal government has rejected Gov. Ronald Reagan's request that it allow foreign farm workers to harvest California's crops in coming months. It told Reagan his request was not backed up by evidence and didn't follow correct procedure.

The U.S. Labor Department informed the governor yesterday that it won't consider the matter "until full justification is provided." Its sharp turndown came just hours after Reagan asked the government to allow 9,625 Mexican field hands to work in the state in the near future.

He had said delayed crops are now ready for harvest but that there is a labor shortage. About 8,700 workers were imported last year to help with the California harvest.

The Labor Department's refusal called Reagan's request "completely deficient in that it contained no supporting evidence. Nor did the telegram contain required information on wages offered."

The federal agency said it found no evidence that farmers have sought out-of-state domestic workers.

Terra Linda To Talk Of Recreation Aims

Terra Linda Recreation and Park District directors last night decided to look for additional help for the district's one-man maintenance staff.

The question of whether to hire a full-time or part-time recreation and park director to succeed Kevin Ragan was postponed until the next meeting, Tuesday night, Sept. 19, at the recreation center.

"We are going to attempt at the next meeting to more or less define how we want to go in the future," said Norman Gurin, president of the board. "This will determine whether to have a part-time or a full-time director."

Gurin said the board will probably hire a second full-time maintenance man.

He said that street lighting at Oleander Park will be improved with the addition of a street lamp in the park area, this to be installed by the Terra Linda Community Services District.

School Office Site Bearing Opposition

One hundred persons have signed a petition, now being circulated, expressing dissatisfaction with the Wilson Avenue-Vineyard Road site for the proposed Novato Unified School District administration office.

Petitioners believe, reported Alfred Bellucci who initiated the petition, that the proposed site is contrary to the master plan are not conducive to good residential development.

"We contend that the facility should be kept in the immediate downtown area," declared Bellucci. "Novato is spread out enough without having this move out to the residential area."

The administration office is now located at Marion School, 1015 Seventh Street. Owner of the land of the proposed new site is Guido Paladini.

Bellucci said that the subject at a special meeting of the board to be held at 8 p.m., Sept. 25 at West Novato School.

School district trustees have gone on record favoring the Wilson Avenue-Vineyard Road site.

Missing Boat Found In Bay

A 22-foot boat missing overnight from a Canal Street berth in San Rafael was located today by a Coast Guard helicopter on San Pablo Bay off Hamilton Air Force Base.

The trio aboard was safe, The Coast Guard said the boat had apparently had engine trouble.

Aboard, according to the Coast Guard, were Carl Ashley, a contractor and operator of the vessel; Raymond Valeti and Merl Williams, all of 400 Canal Street. They had left at 5 p.m. yesterday to go fishing.

A neighbor, Robert Best, also of 400 Canal Street, assisted in the search last night.

Financiers Buy Racquet Club

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Palm Springs Racquet Club, believed to be worth more than $2 million, has been purchased for an undisclosed price by a group of financiers headed by Donald Stralem, chairman of the finance committee of Columbia Pictures.

The sale of the club was announced yesterday and climaxed 10 months of negotiations.

Actor Charles D. Farrell, owner and founder of the exclusive club, will remain managing director and chairman of the board of governors. Sherman Hull will continue as the club's general manager.

Statue Readied For Ceremonies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A statue of the founder of San Francisco, a friendship gift from the Mexican state of Sonora, was in place today for acceptance ceremonies at Civic Center.

The heroic copper effigy is of Juan Bautista de Anza mounted on a horse. It was executed by one of Mexico's leading artists, Julian Martinez.

The statue will be formally presented to Mayor John F. Shelley Friday by Gov. Luis Encinas of Sonora. It will remain in Civic Center until a permanent site is chosen.

Suit Charges Dillon Beach Violations

A suit declaring Lawson's Landing at Dillon Beach a public nuisance because of zoning violation was filed in Marin Superior Court by County of Marin today.

It also charges the operators, Merle Eugene Lawson and his wife, Icymae, and Walter Lawson and his wife, Dolores, haven't the required health permit to maintain the automobile and mobile home park, have no building permits for existing buildings, and have inadaquate sanitation facilities.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered the defendants to show at 2 p.m. Sept. 25 why they shouldn't be restrained from continued operation of the park until the alleged violations are corrected.

Joseph A. Forest, deputy county counsel, said the trailer park is in a limited agriculture zone, and would require commercial resort recreational zoning to operate legally.

He said the defendants have been urged by the county for many months to apply for new zoning but have refused. The park has space for up to 150 trailers, several of which are kept there year-round, he added.

California white asparagus was first commercially canned in 1892.

Guard Changes To Be Delayed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Reorganization of the California National Guard will be delayed at least one month, from Nov. 1 to Dec. 1, Lt. Col. Robert L. Quick, the guard's inspector general, said today.

The U.S. Defense Department wants to transform the guard from two divisions into three brigades as part of a nationwide reorganization plan.

The U.S. Congress currently is considering the proposal.

Quick said the delay is caused by a shift in the deadline for governors' approval of troop lists from Aug. 28 to Sept. 28.

FULFILLING ORDERS for tote bags for the Ross Hospital Volunteers' Gift Shop as well as those received from all parts of the United States, Europe and Australia are volunteer seamstresses of the Ross Hospital Volunteers. CUSTOM MADE

Tote Bag Sales Benefit Fund

Through the seemingly unrelated design of lady's tote bag — and the untiring efforts of a group of volunteer workshop seamstresses, and undisclosed number of Marin County residents are, each year, given cost-free hospitalization. It happens at Ross General Hospital — through sales made at the Ross Volunteers' Gift Shop.

Five years ago, after an unusually successful Christmas sale of topiary trees, Mrs. Allan Zeiss, seeking additional ways to raise money for the volunteer sponsored Endowed Bed Fund, designed a unique, poodle decorated tote bag that marked the beginning of the Ross Hospital Volunteers' workshop. The prototype bag, made of canvas and decorated with a perky felt and yarn poodle, was an immediate success. Ross Volunteers bought the first bags, their friends accounted for additional sales and, now, tote bag orders are received from all parts of the United States, including Hawaii and from several European countries and Australia.

THUS FAR, Mrs. Zeiss, an accomplished artist, has designed 35 different motifs for the from pocket of the hand-sewn tote bag which is available in scores of different color combinations. Currently being designed is a tote bag for surfers. Many requests are received from yacht club members for the burgee design, and from golfers for individual designs. Also popular is the personal monogram design. The 35 standard designs include motifs for all sports, including baseball teams, football, and tennis, and for flowers, birds, animals, hobbies, etc. A recent request came from the Red Devil Yacht Club in Minnesota for tote bags with the Red Devil burgee on the pocket. Another bag, decorated with a jaunty blue jay went to a lady in Florida who had recently acquired a blue jay for a pet.

READY MADE tote bags are always on display in the Volunteers' Gift Shop. Special orders are available with two week delivery. Christmas orders must be placed before Nov. 1. Although the tote bag is the workshop's main endeavor, the volunteer workers make several beautiful items, especially for Christmas and other holidays.

The Ross Hospital Volunteer Workshop is under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Bonner and directed by Mrs. Tyler Seeley. All of the tote bags are hand-sewn by Mesdames Oscar Baan, William Hickman, Robert Cortopassi and David Sederquist.

All profits from the sale of tote bags, and sales made in the Gift Shop go to the Ross Hospital Volunteers' Endowed Bed Fund. Purpose of the Endowed Bed Fund is payment of hospital and surgical care for patients of Marin County doctors.

PROUDLY DISPLAYING the unique tote bags is Mrs. Allan Zeiss a past president of the Ross Volunteers. Mrs. Zeiss, an accomplished artist, got the project started when she designed a tote bag of canvas and decorated it with a perky felt and yarn poodle. Mrs. Zeiss has to date designed 35 motifs for the front pocket of the hand-sewn tote bags.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Stamp Out Steadying' Is In! Buttons To Be Available Soon

DEAR TEENS AND NEARLY-TEENS:

The last vote is counted, S.O.S. — STAMP OUT STEADYING — is in! Big, distinctive buttons — blue and red lettering on a white background, will be available soon.

For those who came in late: Nearly 1,000 young people have asked me to help them organize "Stamp Out Steadying" clubs because they feel they're being pushed into "steadying" too soon.

S.O.S. is an organization for those who want to play the field, date without feeling tied down, and wait a while before they settle for one. It is not, repeat not, a reform movement, and it is not an adult idea foisted on teens. You kids thought of it and pushed it yourselves. To tell the truth, I went along somewhat reluctantly, and only because so many of you kept prodding.

Almost everyone will be an S.O.S. drop-out someday, and many of you won't ever drop in. The local clubs won't recruit members, but those who decide to join can hopefully expect more fun than before — what with mixer-dances, parties, a worthy cause or two, and most of all — casual dating!—H.

P.S. I will tell you soon how to obtain an S.O.S. button.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm almost 18 and my boy friend is nearly 19. We went together 16 months and were planning to be married in a year.

But he started thinking things over and discovered that his love for me is more like a father for a daughter. Both of us being understanding, we talked about the problem and I realized it's me. I'm very immature because I've always been protected and babied by my folks.

We agreed it would be foolish to marry under these circumstances. But we're still friends. He is going in the Army and we'll write — and date when he's home on feave.

Helen, do you think "fatherly" love will ever change to the husbandly kind? I don't feel at all like his daughter. I love him.—DESPERATE P.

DEAR P:

I think your boy friend means, "We BOTH need time to grow up." But being an immature male, he puts all the burden on you.

These next two years will bring maturity you both need. Keep writing, keep hoping, and keep growing up. You'll discover great changes in each other when he comes home for good.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

In my second year at college I dated a man of 23 who meant the world to me. He told me he loved me and I, like a fool, fell for it. I convinced myself it was okay as long as you really loved the guy. Isn't that what modern sociologists and psychologists say? — "If you really care and it hurts no one, pre-marital sex isn't wrong."

But now he doesn't call any more and I know my very special love was just another experience to him. I still cry myself to sleep at night. How can I get over him?—HELP

DEAR HELP:

Isn't it a shame those "modern thinkers" forgot to add, "But it always hurts SOMEBODY!" Toss out the guilt and self-pity, dear, and start feeling honest anger at a low-down man who conned you. It's the only way to knock him out of your dreams.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you! She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottle in care of the Independent-Journal.

Grandmother Is Top Salesman

EXPLAINING HER "mountain charts", graphs which show the trends in investments, is Mrs. John M. Croxall of Tiburon. "A woman's practical outlook is useful in the investment field," says the youthful looking mother and grandmother. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

By BETTY FROST

"Women are practical," said Mary Croxall.

To the capable, friendly woman behind the desk in her new office in Tiburon this was a full explanation for her successful career as a top national salesman in the mutual fund investment business.

Her husband, John M. Croxall, is vice president and regional director of the investment concern. From its Tiburon headquarters, this firm directs 100 salesmen working out of 12 offices in California and Hawaii. Mary is a registered investment representative, assists John with regional operations of the business, publishes bulletins and handles public relations. The two are much in demand for lectures on investments, and travel continually throughout their territory. Mary's opinions as an authority in her field are included in a section of a technical book, "How To Sell Mutual Funds" by Loren Dunton. She is the only woman on a 14 member national executive committee of the securities company which has its central office in Emporia, Kan.

THAT SOUNDS like a pretty busy life, doesn't it? Now add the five grown Croxall children, and "five and a half grandchildren" to whom Mary is devoted. Put in a constant stream of houseguests, a zest for creative cooking, and the knack of supervising decorating both at home and in the office. And for a dash of fun — dancing, playing tennis and sailing. These things, too, are a part of Mary's world.

"Oh, yes, and I love to watch 'Peyton Place'," says the financial expert, with an impish grin.

Well, how did she get that way? Mary was born in China, when her father was a professor of science at Peiping University. When the family came back to California, she was three years old, and had to learn English. She now regrets having lost the fluency in Mandarin which she had as a child. She went to public schools in Glendale, graduating from Hoover High School. She worked as a secretary before her marriage, and resumed this work 10 years after her marriage. Later she was an executive secretary at Warner Bros. Studio in Los Angeles, and she also worked as salesman for a food supplement concern.

IN 1957 John went to work for the mutual investment company. Mary joined him in the venture in 1958. Their operations were in Southern California at that time. They moved to the Bay Area later and lived in Tiburon from 1960-63. When they returned in June, after activities in Texas and Los Angeles, they bought back their former home in Tiburon. Then they decided to make Tiburon their business headquarters as well.

SURROUNDED BY what she calls her "mountain charts," Mary Croxall is the kind of person who can give you an erudite run-down on investments in one minute, and talk about clothes and hair-dos the next. Do you suppose the reason for her practical success is that she's a gal who has a lot of fun at whatever she does?

League Discussion Unit Program Set

The discussion unit program of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin will start Sept. 12, 13, and 14 with the topic "An Evaluation of U.S. Relations with Mainland China."

Five units are available to Central Marin Leaguers. Morning units meet in Terra Linda, Mrs. James Barnett, chairman and Corte Madera, Mrs. Stan Claussen, acting chairman. Meat, Vegetables In Plentiful Supply

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Weekend food shoppers will find a good selection of meat and poultry along with a colorful array of fresh fruit and vegetables from late summer harvests.

Vegetable bins will generally offer plenty of cabbage, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, green peppers, potatoes and tomatoes. Fruit choices include good supplies of cantaloups and grapes.

MEAT COUNTERS in many locales will feature pork, chops especially; while broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys are tops in the poultry department. Some areas will give steak a feature billing.

In shopping for fish, be on the lookout for good supplies of frozen fish fillets and steaks.

IN THE WEST:

Most pork cuts are down about 1 cent per pound in West Coast markets, and smoked hams are down even more—2 to 4 cents per pound in Portland.

Beef in general is up 1 cent per pound, though ribs are up 2 cents per pound in San Francisco, and are 2 to 5 cents higher in Los Angeles

Veal and lamb are down 1 cent in Portland, but prices elsewhere remained unchanged.

Whole fryers are down 2 cents a pound in Seattle. Butter and eggs are steady in all four markets.

FRUITS IN best supply include bananas, cantaloups, Thompson seedless and other grapes, lemons, oranges and watermelons.

A Paper Bedroom May Be Worth Its Weight In Gold

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It's only a paper bedroom, but it may be worth more than its weight in gold—to the housewife.

When she becomes bored with pattern, colors or style of the paper bedcover, draperies or pillow cases, she can put them in a paper bag and dispose of it. There is no washing or dry cleaning necessary, but the housewife can sew the paper. Shortening is accomplished with just a flick of the scissors.

Three New York designers, Inman Cook, Darin Pierce, and Frederick Davis, have combined their talents to bring out a handsome assortment of paper products for beds, windows, and tables.

A very attractive all-over design of pink and peach on a pale green background is their first paper venture.

"The buyer interest is phenomenal," says Davis, director of the "Paperworks." "We are going to add new designs, including a line of sheer paper curtains, but we don't want to bring out too many things at once."

They are using restraint because much of the paper around has been treated as a gimmick. The three designers want to keep their products at a high-style level.

Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Plan Get-Acquainted Luncheon

On Sept. 19, at 11:30 a.m., the members of the Marin County Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club are starting off the year with a Get-Acquainted Plate Salad Luncheon at the home of Mrs. F. T. Fogarty, 70 Corte Loyola, Greenbrae. The program for the day will be convention news and the happenings for the coming year. Sign-ups for the bridge tournament will be that day, also.

Reservations are being handled by Mrs. Howard Council, 224 Emerystone Terrace, San Rafael.

Shopping in the Village with Pat Reynolds

Town & Country Village

Village shops are showing the very latest in fashion trends at Fashion-Luncheons each Wednesday at The Cherish Inn. Show time is 12:30 and reservations are suggested... phone 388-4212.
For your shopping convenience, all Village shops are open on Wednesday evenings and invite you to bring the family for a delightful browsing and shopping experience.

Happiness could be a warm sweatshirt on a misty, moisty morning . . . especially when it is a Peanuts sweatshirt from CAPRICORN BOOKS. All the Peanuts People are represented on these bright colored shirts and, just like Peanuts' gang, they come in all sizes. And, have you seen the Peanuts School Calendar? . . . it covers only the months from Sept. to June. All school reference books here too in both paperback and hard cover.

If you have a flea infested family feline, try a Cat Pat from MUTTS OF MARIN. Kitty will go for that classy gold trim and this flea powder-filled mitt will make fleas flee.

New items at THE GOLDEN CHERUB . . . exquisite hand-cut crystal perfume bottles (some with atomizer or spray mist tops.) Also a delightful collection of 24 carat gold plated dresser and bath accessories. These look for all the world like antique Florentine gold and some are combined with a glass top and velvet bottom for pure elegance. This group would make marvelous gifts (I'm sure you will want some for yourself, too!).

CONTESSA ANGELA OF ROMA will unveil her fall collection at a dinner show at the Cherish Inn on Tuesday, September 12th. (Here's one fashion show that friend husband will enjoy too . . . Contessa's designs are elegant and eye-catching.)

That old smoothie, Old Smuggler scotch, is being offered at a thrifty Scottish price by VILLAGE LIQUORS . . . $5.77 a fifth or $62.32 a case. All you thirsty little "squirrels" should stock-up now . . . there's a long winter ahead. If you are party-planning, be sure to plan with Dan. He will be glad to advise you on just "how much, of what, for how many."

And a Merry Christmas to you too from ALBERTA OF MARIN. There is Christmas all over this charming shop each Tues. and Thurs. when ALBERTA holds her classes in unique (and awfully pretty) Christmas arrangements.

A really nice way to say "thanks" to Dad for all those back-to-school duds would be to treat him to a HICK'RY PIT barbecued steak. This man-size marvel is barbecued to perfection over a sizzling wood fire and the flavor just can't be beat. The whole family can enjoy Dad's reward, including the family treasurer since prices here are real easy on the wallet.

Hey, gang, be sure to see the orlon knit separates at SUSAN'S FASHIONS. These skirts, tops, jackets and pants come in navy or bright red and have color-coordinated knit shells. The skirts and pants have elastic waistbands and the jackets are smartly brass buttoned in either single or double breasted styles. Completely washable, of course, and great for back to school.

FU'S ART STUDIO

It's a crying shame to see a lovely painting or print ruined by a poor framing job. This never happens if FU'S ART STUDIO is in the act. Here, frames are custom designed by artists who know just how the finished job should look. They use the finest materials available and the results are outstanding.

Run, don't walk, ladies . . . the new Pendletons have arrived at CARLTON'S VILLAGE SPORTSWEAR. This season's collection looks better than ever with a number of new styles, plus the grand old favorites. There is a luscious greyed mulberry shade in shirt and matching sweater . . . authentic looking kilts . . . a wear-forever plaid jumper in mostly red and green to match with turtleneck sweaters of the same colors . . . bermudas . . . suits . . . pants . . . in short, an awfully good-looking basis for any fall wardrobe.

The clatter and chatter of a noisy restaurant are rarely conducive to pleasant dining . . . especially when the occasion calls for quiet, business talk, KUBLAI KHAN manages to serve a delightfully varied menu for their Business Man's Luncheon Specials as well as maintain a tranquil atmosphere. The unobstrusive service is excellent too.

On those days it seems you're running a taxi service for the kids, the washing machine goes on the fritz, the puppy forgot his manners and Father calls to say he's bringing a "visiting fireman" home for dinner . . . lady, you need help. And you'll find it at L'ENTREE. They have perfectly magnificent casseroles that are truly gourmet dinner entrees . . . all you do is heat them and collect the compliments (since you've had time to "collect" yourself).

Lots of new robes and gowns for fall are in now at THE HOUR GLASS. This shop manages to carry a nice variety of styles that includes very swish hostess attire and pretty but practical quilted robes. The brushed nylon robes are especially nice for fall and I think you will like the new deep mulberry shade.

Trip-Taking Youth Nabbed At Wreck

A California Highway Patrolman, directing traffic after an accident yesterday, apprehended a Mill Valley youth suspected of being on a psychedelic drug, who almost ran over him and barked like a dog.

Officers Edward N. McClintick and Merlyn L. Baarts were still on the scene of the accident at 11:20 p.m., on Shoreline Highway across from the Fireside Motel, Mill Valley.

McClintick said he stepped back and told the driver to pull over and stop.

He said the driver appeared to be in a daze but did stop. The youth did not have a driver's license and when asked his name, he replied: "Peter Perdue, I'm a howling dog."

Perdue, 19, of 70 Surrey Avenue, Mill Valley, then became completely incoherent, according to McClintick, barking and howling in answer to further questions, saying once that he was God.

Because officers suspected he was under the influence of a hallucinatory drug, he was taken to the county jail. He was to be sent to Napa State Hospital for observation.

McClintick said the boy's father, William H. Perdue, later told him his son had talked about using LSD prior to this incident.

In the two-car accident preceding the arrest, at 10:50 p.m., a westbound car on Shoreline Highway, driven by Mary Ellen Simpson, 21, of 2669 Reseca Avenue, Forest Knolls, made a left turn in front of an eastbound car driven by Diane Marilyn Hieatt, 26, of 360 Jean Street, Apt. 6, Mill Valley, and they collided, according to the CHP.

The two drivers and a passenger in the Hieatt car, Diane Hursh, 24, of San Francisco, refused hospitalization for minor injuries, Patrolmen reported.

Thieu Calls For Aid Of Vote Victims

SAIGON (AP) — President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu called on the South Vietnamese people today to give up some luxuries to help compensate the victims of Communist terror during the election.

In a nationwide television address, the chief of state said that in the week of the election there were more than 1,500 Vietnamese casualties of Communist attacks designed to disrupt the voting.

This included both civilians and military, 331 of whom were killed and 1,212 wounded, he said. The Sunday elections were for a president, vice president and a 60-man Senate.

Six civilian presidential candidates asked the Constituent Assembly to void the election of Thieu, claiming they have evidence the voting was rigged.

"Each of us is making separate complaints. I have six," said Truong Dinh Dzu, the Saigon lawyer who ran second to Thieu and his running mate, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, in the election last Sunday.

The government countered with charges that the Viet Cong electioneered on behalf of Dzu. The official government news agency Vietnam Press quoted a captured Viet Cong to back up the charge.

Four of the candidates told newsmen they are joining with four others defeated in the elections to form an antigovernment front that does "not recognize these fraudulent elections"

The assembly must rule by Oct. 2 on all charges of election irregularity. If it finds too many of them, it can nullify the election and call a new one.

Marijuana Use Is Suspected

Three teen-age Tiburon youths were booked into Juvenile Hall yesterday when found by a sheriff's deputy in a parked car with what appeared to be marijuana.

Deputy Joseph G. Kelly reported that at 9 p.m. he found the three boys, one 17, two 16 years old, in the parking lot of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

In the car's ash tray, Kelly reported he found what appeared to be a crushed out marijuana cigarette. Another suspected marijuana cigarette was found in the shirt pocket of one of the youths.

Two Recitals Will Benefit New School

Pianist Trudi Sorensen will present public recitals Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at her home, 241 Via Barranca, Greenbrae.

The recitals are a benefit for the new German Language School of Marin, which will open on Sept. 16 at Santa Venetia Junior High School. Registration is open to children from the age of 4.

Mrs. Sorensen's program includes a survey of preludes for piano, Beethoven's "Moonlight" sonata and the "story" of the waltz. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. F. Henning Bauer, 11 Hollyhock Court, Mill Valley.

The pianist, in private life Mrs. Forest Sorensen, is of German descent and has enrolled her three children in the school.

A graduate of Oberlin Conservatory of Music, she holds a master's degree from the Cleveland Institute of Music, has done postgraduate work at the Juilliard School of Music in New York and Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara.

She has been a member of the piano faculties of Concordia College, Minnesota, and Ohio University.

Strawberry Rec Board Reject Dredge Bidding

Directors of Strawberry Recreation District found themselves in deep water last night when two bids received for the dredging of Strawberry Channel exceeded the area's bonding capacity.

Highest bid was from Shellmaker, San Francisco, for $31,008, lowest bid was from Podesta, San Francisco, for $26,630, according to board clerk Mrs. Jean Heick.

The low bid was neither accepted nor rejected last night, Mrs. Heick said, because it was $3,630 higher than the bonding capacity of $23,000 voted last May for the special zone of 19 homes on the channel.

In a two-hour discussion, directors considered how costs could be cut, such as by renting the dredging equipment on a daily basis, rather than having a contractor do the work.

A committee of property manager George C. Lopes and architect J. Martin Rosse was appointed to investigate the problem and report to the Oct. 3 meeting.

State law requires action be taken on the bid within five weeks, according to Mrs. Heick.

In other actions, the board appointed James Garner of 106 East Strawberry Drive, to serve as its representative on the joint advisory committee with the Strawberry Swim Club, which supervises operations of the club.

Priest Urges Repeal Of All Abortion Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Jesuit priest who is dean of the Boston College Law School suggested today the repeal of all laws against abortion in the first six months of pregnancy.

But Father Robert F. Drinan coupled his proposal with a strong defense of the right of the fetus to be born and sharply criticized proposals to permit abortions where there is substantial risk of a defective child.

Many states are considering proposals to broaden existing laws which mostly forbid abortions except to save a mother's life.

Father Drinan warned, in a paper given to a session of the International Conference on Abortion, that "the long-range consequences of ceding to the state the powers to prefer the health of the living over the life of the unborn are indisputably enormous.

"The only alternative for those who desire to change America's present abortion laws is to have existing abortion laws repealed," he said, adding that "such a repeal would not mean that the state approves of abortion but only that it declines to regulate it."

Marinite To Have Exhibit At U.C.

Weiss, a junior at San Rafael High School, and photographer Frank Larrick of 44 Tamalpais Road, Fairfax, will be among many artists represented in the show.

ACT Decides City To Be Home Stage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The American Conservatory Theater, which originally proposed to divide its time between Chicago and San Francisco, announced yesterday it was making San Francisco its permanent home.

The ACT and the California Theater Foundation jointly announced the company would operate a 40-week season at the Geary and Marines Memorial theaters. The company will operate a conservatory training program with the theater presentations on a combined budget of $2.3 million.

The foundation, sponsoring organization, said it would raise $400,000 in local contributions, seek $500,000 from national foundations and count on the box office to raise the rest.

The company now is in the Chicago area. George Ball, ACT manager, said that such tours would not be possible under the new program. The company proposes to stage 20 new productions and open with Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," Oct. 21.

The largest lake in central Europe is Hungary's Lake Balaton. Its area is about 230 square miles.

Radio Gear, Bike Gasoline Stolen

Two burglaries were reported today by sheriff's officers.

Duncan C. Blake, 63 Clement Lane, Kentfield, told deputies Tuesday that someone entered his unlocked garage, making off with a small bicycle.

Michael D. Prior, manager of Minuteman Delivery Service, 14 East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Greenbrae, reported Tuesday that burglars broke into four locked trucks in the firm's parking lot.

Loot included radio equipment, a bridge commuter's ticket book, and 38 gallons of gasoline, he said.

FOR OCEANAUTS
Liquid Air Solving Big Problem

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Food, clothing and shelter used to be enough to get explorers to their goals. In the deep oceans, however, as in space, the most important consideration is air. Oceanauts can only begin their quests encumbered by the huge air tanks to which they are presently bound, and which must be changed or refilled every hour or two.

The biggest step in years toward freedom in the seas is being taken with air in liquid form at temperatures hundreds of degrees below zero. A number of liquid air breathing devices being developed around the country are already capable of outperforming most of the scuba (self-contained underwater breathing apparatus) in common use today. Some would allow a diver to stay down as long as a day.

The simplest system is one being developed in Florida by an aerospace engineer, Jim Woodberry, and Jordan Klein of Mako Products Inc. The most publicized of the lot, it is also the simplest, since it is almost identical with a conventional scuba unit except that instead of carrying tanks of compressed gas, it uses a liquefied mixture stored in vacuum-insulated metal bottles. The system is open-circuit—exhaled gases are not recirculated, but bubble into the water.

The nitrogen - oxygen mixture used in the system has a temperature, as a liquid, of more than 300 degrees below zero. Two metal tubes between the bottles and the mouthpiece allow the liquid to warm and expand into a gas that will not freeze the diver's lungs.

A planned commercial version would provide about 12 hours of "down-time." This unit would weigh about 82 pounds. A conventional scuba of the same capacity, which would weigh four or five times as much, would require eight air tanks.

When the Navy came by to consider the unit for diving under arctic ice, Klein threw in another invention, a simple heating coil which not only gave the cryogenic divers the advantage of increased down-time, but provided them with nicely prewarmed air to breathe.

Although liquid-air breathing devices are new under water, they've been around for years on land as respirators for firemen, miners, fighter pilots and even the launch pad technicians who handle toxic rocket fuel for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Firewell, Inc., in Buffalo, N.Y., began in secret to work on a liquid air diving unit. It is believed to be an open-circuit unit, with oxygen and nitrogen or helium combined through a proportioning valve from separate tanks.

Firewell won't confirm that or anything else about their unit—an indication of the possible worth of the market — but an idea of the system's efficiency can possibly be drawn from the effectiveness of the company's firefighting respirators, which last two hours instead of 20 minutes, as in the conventional units they replace.

The really spectacular performance, however, shows promise of coming from closed-circuit systems, in which the gas mixture is circulated continuously while some absorbent material removes the exhaled carbon dioxide.

Since the inert gas—nitrogen or helium—which fills most of the system is not removed as it circulates, only a small tank of oxygen is necessary for greatly prolonged dives.

Marin's Future Discussion Topic

The planning committee of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs continued its discussion of the present and future of Marin County at a meeting in the Civic Center last night.

Subcommittee reports were submitted by Irwin Farley of Tiburon, Robert Heyer of San Anselmo, Morris Finisy of Mill Valley, and Ann Anderson of Kentfield.

Mrs. Anderson, vice chairman ,said committee members discussed such topics as Marin's physical form, its people, planning process and power structures, without reaching any conclusions.

"It's a continuing process of trying to identify significant issues," said Mrs. Anderson. "Eventually we hope to be able to inform the people on what a general plan for the county will look like and how it will affect the public."

Burning Rags

A basket full of cleaned rags ignited this morning at the Hurricane Gulch Laundromat, 203 Second Street, Sausalito, filling the laundromat with smoke but causing only minimal damage, the Sausalito Fire Department reported. The fire department received the alarm at 9:35 a.m.

Successful Businessmen Don't Always make Experts Bridge

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

There is no proof that the ability to play bridge well will bring you success in any other field. One of the keenest businessmen in the United States recently went down five tricks at a cold contract. He still thinks he was unlucky.

OUR HERO

Our hero won the first trick in dummy with the king of diamonds to try a finesse with the queen of spades. This lost to the king, and back came a diamond.

South took the ace of diamonds and the ace of spades, gulping when West discarded a heart. When declarer lost a finesse to the king of clubs, East drew the rest of the trumps with the ten and the jack. West kept all of his diamonds and took four tricks with them when East had finished drawing trumps. Down five.

BAD REASON

Our keen businessman won the first trick in the wrong hand for a bad reason. South should win the first trick with the ace of diamonds and lead the ace of spades as a safety play. If nothing startling happens on this trick he can lead the next trump from dummy toward his queen.

As it happens, the king of spades drops when the ace is led. Now South should lead a club to dummy's ace. When the jack of clubs drops. South continues with the queen of clubs to force out the king.

East returns a diamond to the king, and declarer draws one more round of trumps with the queen of clubs to force out the king.

BEST BUSINESS

East returns a diamond to the king, and declarer draws one more round of trumps with the queen and begins to lead high clubs. East can ruff and can take another trump trick, but he can take in all only two trumps and one club.

I can't help thinking it's better business to make your contract than to go down five, unless your're operating on a cost-plus-10 per cent basis.

If he does so, you will raise to three; if he denies a major by bidding two diamonds, you will bid no trump.

Peking 'Peace' Offer Leads To Canton Arrests

HONG KONG (UPI)—The mayor of Canton and seven other top city and provincial officials were invited to Peking and then arrested there for supporting anti-Maoist factions during the bloody fighting in Canton, anti-Communist newspapers in Hong Kong said today.

Other reports said shock waves from the China power struggle have brought the important port cities of Shanghai and Whampoa to a near standstill.

PEKING TRICKERY

The Kung Sheung and Tin Tin newspapers quoted travelers returning from Canton as saying that mayor Tseng Sheng and other high-ranking Communist party officials were invited to Peking to discuss "peace" in the city. Once they reached the capital they were charged with aiding anti-Maoist factions, who had vowed to launch a "bloodbath" in Canton. The Canton officials were placed under arrest.

Premier Chou En-lai was reported to have said the anti-Maoists were given the equivalent of $37 million to support their "Canton bloodbath campaign."

Chou was said to have flown to Canton and promised pro-Mao elements there money and sweeping authority to quell the fighting and restore order.

ARMS OFFER

The reports said Chou offered about $110 million to arm pro-Mao Red Guards, on condition that the money not be used to start another round of fighting elsewhere.

Loyal Kwangtung province officials were also promised that Peking would not interfere with local attempts to put down the violence, the reports said.

When Chou landed in Canton last Saturday he was met at the airport by 7,000 demonstrators protesting the arrest of the mayor and other officials.

Since Chou's visit, army units that had been neutral in the struggle were reported to have joined the fight on the side of pro-Mao Red Guards and the city was said to be in their control.

Novato Police Check Lootings

Two burglaries, involving the loss of $670 in rings and $41 in camping equipment, were reported yesterday to Novato police.

Louise R. Ross reported that someone entered her home at 135 San Felipe Way through the garage between 9 p.m., Tuesday and 9 a.m. yesterday, and took the rings.

William H. Narier of 1021 Simmons Lane said that, between midnight and 7:30 a.m., yesterday, someone broke into his camper parked at his home and removed fishing poles and sleeping bags valued at $41.

Classified Documents Irritating Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some senators are irritated because they're unable to use in debate classified information they acquire in dealing with military and foreign policy. They complain that secrecy requirements imposed by the Defense and State departments often hinder them in making an effective public case for viewpoints on controversial issues.

The protests have appeared with increasing frequency in floor discussions, committee hearings and official reports.

No senator has suggested elimination of the authority of the Defense and State departments to classify material in the interest of national security. The authority extends to transcripts of testimony of congressional committees at which representatives of those departments appear. But some members say the authority to keep information secret has been abused.

"The members of the executive branch of the government have gone far out of line in classifying material to which the American people are entitled," commented Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., during a debate on defense appropriations.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, has said Congress should "insist upon our rights and not be satisfied when the administration sends matters back and declares they are classified."

In debate over whether U.S. military aid to underdeveloped nations should be curtailed, for example, each side insisted it could prove its case to the public if it were not for the secrecy requirement imposed by the executive branch.

"True debate is impossible under such a handicap," said Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark. ,of the Foreign Relations Committee said if all the facts about military aid were known "it would be difficult for the administration to obtain the money."

A Fatal Fall

LONDON (AP)—Diksie, a 27-year-old female elephant, died yesterday after plunging into a dry moat surrounding her compound at London Zoo.

Pair Sustains Minor Injuries In 101 Collision

A driver and his passenger suffered minor neck injuries Tuesday in a three-car crash on southbound Highway 101 on Puerto Suello Hill.

Cars driven by George Raymond Caspar, 27, of 135 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, and Melvin Scott Heliotus, 19, of 350 Orange Blossom Lane, San Rafael, stopped in heavy commute traffic at 7:45 a.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

A car driven by Leffler Alan Brown, 18, of 1293 Idylberry Road, San Rafael, changed lanes and hit the rear of the Heliotus vehicle, knocking it into the rear of Caspary's car, according to patrolmen.

Caspary was treated for a slight neck strain at Marin General Hospital. His passenger, Nancy Friese, 20, of 3 Eagle Drive, Novato, was treated for a neck sprain.

Senior Citizens Activities Director Will Be Employed

Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission Tuesday night voted to hire a director of senior citizens activities, reported Ronald C. Samet, recreational director. The part-time position, proposed by commission chairman Richard P. Jones, would pay about $90 a month, Samet said. Commissioners authorized Samet and City Mgr. David J. Sumbardo to fill the position.

A two-week tennis clinic for women will begin in two weeks, Samet reported. Registration is being accepted at City Hall, he said.

Commissioners also voted to change their meetings from the first Tuesday to the third Thursday of each month, and set their first meeting under the new schedule for Sept. 21. The change was made because Fairfax School District trustees also meet the first Tuesday of each month.

39 Seek Novato Planner Position

Thirty-nine applications for the vacant job of Novato planning director will be reviewed by a Novato City Council subcommittee, J. Julien Baget, chairman of the committee, said today.

Other committee members are John Castleman, planning commission chairman, and Michael Wornum, an outside representative who is a Mill Valley city councilman.

The committee will meet shortly, Baget said, select seven candidates to interview, then recommend three to five to the city council. The job was left vacant by resignation of Robert Lagle.

Seek-Destroy Viet Missions Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thruston B. Morton, a foreign policy spokesman of Republican moderates, says the United States should end its far-ranging seek-and-destroy missions in Vietnam and protect the populated part of the country.

Make the enemy "come and try to seek and destroy us," the Kentucky Republican said in an interview.

This tactic, said Morton, might reduce by half the number of American troops needed in Vietnam.

Morton, a former assistant secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration, said some new tactic is needed. Bombing, he said, has proved not to be the solution.

He acknowledged he had once completely supported President Johnson's decision to bomb North Vietnam, adding: "I thought this would bring them to the conference table in six months. But I was wrong."

Nor does Morton agree with such hawks as Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who charge the administration with handcuffing U.S. air power and call for more intensive bombing.

"More of the same isn't going to get them to the conference table," said Morton. "The real thing we've got to change is the ground strategy."

Morton questioned why elite Marine and Army units should be sent into the sparsely populated jungle regions "where the casualties have been" and then withdrawn.

Instead, he said, "we should pacify the 20 per cent of the ground area where 80 per cent of the people are."

New Commute Ticket Policy To Span Board

A proposal to honor auto commuters' Golden Gate Bridge tickets only if more than one person is in a car will be presented to bridge district directors, it was disclosed at last night's meeting of the Marin Transit District board.

Thomas D. Hardcastle of Marin, a bridge district director, reported the proposal by bridge director Dan E. London of San Francisco, and said it may be presented at the directors' meeting at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the district office at the toll booth plaza.

Conceding the "political practicality of 20,000 auto commuters from Marin," Hardcastle said "we might have a little difficulty in selling it."

London could not be reached for details of his proposal.

Marin Transit District director Ernest N. Kettenhofen, objecting to the proposal, said "many commuters find it necessary to take their cars to work. The bridge was paid for by autos — now that it's paid for are we going to chuck them off it?"

Commute tickets for autos cost 12.5 cents each, half the full fare.

Transit Directors Oppose Bus Hikes

Marin Transit District directors last night voted unanimously to oppose Greyhound Lines' proposed fare increases, and to demand improved bus service.

Greyhound has asked the state Public Utilities Commission to approve fare hikes which would eliminate the discount for commute books, resulting in more than a 50 per cent increase in commuters' costs. Daily cost to San Anselmo commuters, noted County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, would go from $1.07 to $1.62.

ONE-WAY HIKES

Greyhound also proposes to hike one-way fares between Marin and San Francisco by 5 cents for southern and central Marin, and 10 cents for northern Marin.

Thomas D. Hardcastle, Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District director, said "an accepted rule of thumb among transit experts" says that for every 4 per cent increase in public transit fares there is a 1 per cent drop in patronage. Greyhound's bid for a 50 per cent fare hike, he figured, would mean 600 of the 5,000 Marinites now commuting by bus would switch to their cars.

"I don't think the bus commuters have realized the enormity of this thing," Hardcastle said.

In 1950, he noted, Greyhound's try for a 100 per cent fare increase was defeated by unified opposition of commuters (organized by Hardcastle). "Maybe it's time to form another federation of commute clubs," he suggested.

Opposition before the PUC of the proposed fare hike, director Peter H. Behr cautioned, "may mean we would have to retain a highly qualified expert in rates. You can't do anything meaningful unless you pay for it."

Greyhound, Behr declared, "hopes to reduce patronage, and thus its losses, at the expense of the county."

The cost of hiring experts, Maloney suggested, could be shared with Marin by the City of San Francisco and bridge district if they also decide to oppose higher fares.

Demand for improved service, noted chairman Thomas T. Storer, "probably should have been done three years ago. We've been entirely too gingerly in our approach to Greyhound.

"It's been made absolutely clear by Greyhound," Storer added, "that they do not want to improve service to Marin one iota."

Northern Marin bus commuters "pay their own way, but get the worst service," said director Eilliam J. Adams, Novato city councilman.

Getting Grehound to improve its service, commented a commuter in the audience, "is a pipe-dream."

Civic Center's Justice Hall On Schedule

The $9 million hall of justice wing of the Marin County Civic Center is 36 per cent complete and still scheduled to be finished by the end of 1968.

Sidney Feller of Greenbrae, county liaison with the contractor, said 105 men are working on the huge structure. The new wing stretches 858 feet to the north of the existing administration building, which is 530 feet long.

The new wing will house courtrooms and the sheriff's department, now located in the old courthouse in San Rafael. The extreme north end, which juts into a hill, will be the county jail. Inmates for the first time, will have an open air exercise area dug into the hill.

Feller said the only design difference between the hall of justice and administration building will be that the latter will have the same office width on both sides of corridors. Offices on the west side of the administration building are wider than on the east side.

There will be no escalator in the new hall of justice, as in the administration building. It will have seven elevators plus five stair cases for public use and one set of stairs for the use of jail inmates.

During the past month, the hall of justice took clearer shape because pre-cast columns, beams and double concrete supports were fitted into place.

The contract for the job is $9 million, but the entire cost, including furnishings, will bring the total to more than $11 million.

General contractor is Robert E. McKee of El Paso, Tex. Work started March 8, 1966, and target date for completion is October of 1968.

Library Meeting

The Mill Valley Library Board will meet at 8 p.m. today at the new library, 375 Throckmorton Avenue.

Special Attorney For Larkspur In Tamalpais Home Legal Work

The Larkspur City Council last night decided to hire a special attorney to handle all city legal matters relating to the Tamalpais Retirement Home.

In closed session, the council discussed several attorneys for the position, and in open session afterwayds set another closed session for Monday at 8:30 p.m. to interview candidates for the job. During the closed session the council appointed Roy H. Hoffman, partner of city engineer B. J. Whitlow, as acting city engineer while Whitlow is ill.

City Atty. Robert Elliott asked the council to relieve him of the Tamalpais matter because he would not have time for extended public hearings or a court case, and because he felt he might enounter a conflict of interests, since he represents Schultz Investment Co., mortgage holder on the Tamalpais property.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst told the council he had, as the council instructed at its last meeting, written to the owners of the $10.5 million Tamalpais retirement home now under construction on Bon Air Hill, asking for clarification of the center's tax status. He said Tamalpais attorney Thomas M. Jenkins had answered that the Tamalpais is owned by Valley Investment Co., a taxable organization, and that no claim for exemption of taxes has been filed.

Bathurst said that "with rare exceptions, all life care institutions in northern California are off the tax rolls and there is no reason to believe that the Tamalpais will be any exception to this rule, although at the present time there is no positive proof that this will happen."

Bathurst also told the council that the Tamalpais model unit on Via Casitas, next to the construction site, is six months past due to apply for renewal of architectural supervision granted for the temporary structure by the planning commission for 18 months Sept. 8, 1965.

Councilman Vaughn Marker asked if there were anyone in the audience of about 50 persons representing the Tamalpais, and learned that there was not. Bathurst said Jenkins had told him two days before that no Tamalpais representative would attend the meeting.

"This letter doesn't say a damned thing," Marker said. He said the council wanted an answer to the question of whether owners of the Tamalpais intend that it shall ever be exempt from paying property taxes. He suggested the city direct another letter to the Tamalpais, stating the question as clearly as possible. If the answer is anything but a firm "no," he said he would want the city to take whatever next legal step is appropriate on the possibility that tax exempt status would violate the center's use permit.

Attorney Ronald D. Schenck, filling in for Elliott at last night's meeting, said that if the owners of the Tamalpais "are trying to wriggle around the point, they can continue to do so."

"All I want is an answer," Marker said. "We can put two little boxes in the letter, yes and no, and ask them to check one."

Bathurst said he does not feel another letter would get any better answer, and said he wanted the city to appoint a lawyer to "know what the next step is legally."

The council directed him to write the letter as soon as possible.

Larkspur Backs Narcotics Bureau, Bales On Marijuana

The Larkspur City Council last night endorsed plans for a special Marin County Police Bureau on Narcotics and also gave its support to District Attorney Bruce B. Bales' attempt to have laws governing marijuana and LSD modified.

County Supervisor John F. McInnis presented plans for the narcotics bureau and for a city-county planning commission to the council. The council referred the planning proposal to the city planning commission for study.

McInnis said the narcotics program would combine education in drug abuse throughout Marin County schools with a special police bureau to "round up the professional narcotics pushers in Marin County." He said this approach to narcotics control "has never been tried anywhere."

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said he believes his department is "on top of the problem in Larkspur," but gave his support to the proposal, particularly the education program. He suggested the program should "aim higher," to see that police work on narcotics is carried through in the courts.

He supported Bales' proposal that the courts have the alternatives of reducing possession of marijuana to a misdemeanor and of punishing possession of LSD and other dangerous drugs as a felony.

McInnis said the planning proposal would establish an informal organization of city and county planners, the city-county planning commission, to "study each other's programs," and would enable two cities or a city and the county to prepare an area master plan if they desired.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

APPEALS — Reversed the planning commission and granted George Bertram's request for a fill permit for an addition to the Marin Mobile Home Park at 2130 Redwood Highway, and upheld the planning commission in denying Anthony Compagno's request for a six-foot fence variance at 65 Orange Avenue.

TAXI — Approved rate increases for the San Rafael Taxi Co. from 60 to 70 cents for the first two-fifths of a mile and from $1.50 to $2 for each quarter hour of waiting.

SLIDE DEBRIS — Learned that the W. G. Stone family has begun removal of debris from a slide which destroyed the family's home at 292 Via La Paz earlier this year.

REZONING — Adopted ordinances rezoning property at Redwood High School and on La Cuesta Drive, recently annexed to the city, to residential.

NUISANCE — Ordered Paul Vincilione and Mrs. Alice Copeland to abate a nuisance of debris and junk on property between Bon Air Road and Doherty Drive.

PROCLAMATIONS — Proclaimed the week of Oct. 8-14 City Clean-Up Week as well as Fire Prevention Week and the week of Sept. 17-23 Constitution Week.

LIGHTS — Asked Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to prepare plans for upgrading the city's street lighting system, but declined to add any money for more lighting to this year's budget.

INSURANCE — Set a special meeting for Sept. 20, to discuss insurance for employees.

Two Are Injured As Cars Collide

A San Francisco driver and his passenger escaped with minor injuries in a two-car collision yesterday in Lucas Valley.

A southbound car on Las Gallinas Road, driven by Walter Roy Schill, 42, of San Francisco, stopped at a stop sign at the intersection, then pulled out onto Lucas Valley Road and collided at 2:45 p.m. with a westbound car on Lucas Valley Road, driven by William Stanley George, 38, of 613 Kernberry Drive, San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Schill was treated at Marin General Hospital. His passenger, Al Wilson, 41, of San Francisco, refused treatment for his injuries. Schill was cited for failure to yield to through-traffic.

Span Hiring Policy Shift In The Works

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, under fire for alleged racial discrimination in hiring, apparently is trying to unload its employee problems on the state.

The move to bring in the state Personnel Board became known yesterday at a joint meeting of the employment and conciliation and rules and policy committees. The meeting never convened for lack of a quorum, but attending were three representatives of the board's Cooperative Personnel Services.

The "services" section is available to cities, counties, and school and special districts, such as the bridge district, and offers personnel examinations, classification and pay surveys and complete personnel systems.

Committee chairman George H. Ludy of Marin declined to give any details of proposals to be presented by the three state representatives, but conceded they "are connected" with the district's problems of charges of racial discrimination.

The California Fair Employment Practices Commission has scheduled hearings on the firing of two Negro bridge painters next Monday through Friday in the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

County Help To Arrange Commute Rides?

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, speaking last night as chairman of a meeting of Marin Transit District Board, proposed formation of a commuters clearing house, to coordinate car pools to San Francisco.

A county employee, he suggested ,"could be available on a part-time basis" to take telephone calls from commuters who want to form car pools. Such a service, Storer said, "would help reduce traffic congestion to San Francisco."

His fellow directors were cool to the proposal. "It works only in an emergency situation," said director Peter H. Behr, "as when there is a bus strike."

Iris Authority

Bruce Ferrington of Sonoma, an authority on hybridization and cultivation of iris, will speak to the Novato Garden Club at its noon luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Novato Community House. Mrs. Roy O. York, horticulture chairman, will start a series of talks, "Maintenance in Your Garden This Month."

Marijuana Case

Sentencing of Eugene O. Boehm and his common-law wife, Roberta Marie Buckley, for conspiring to smuggle marijuana into county jail was continued from today until next Thursday in Marin Superior Court.

ANCIENT MARINITE — This Indian, whose remains are just coming to light, may have roamed the Tiburon Peninsula nearly 3,000 years ago.

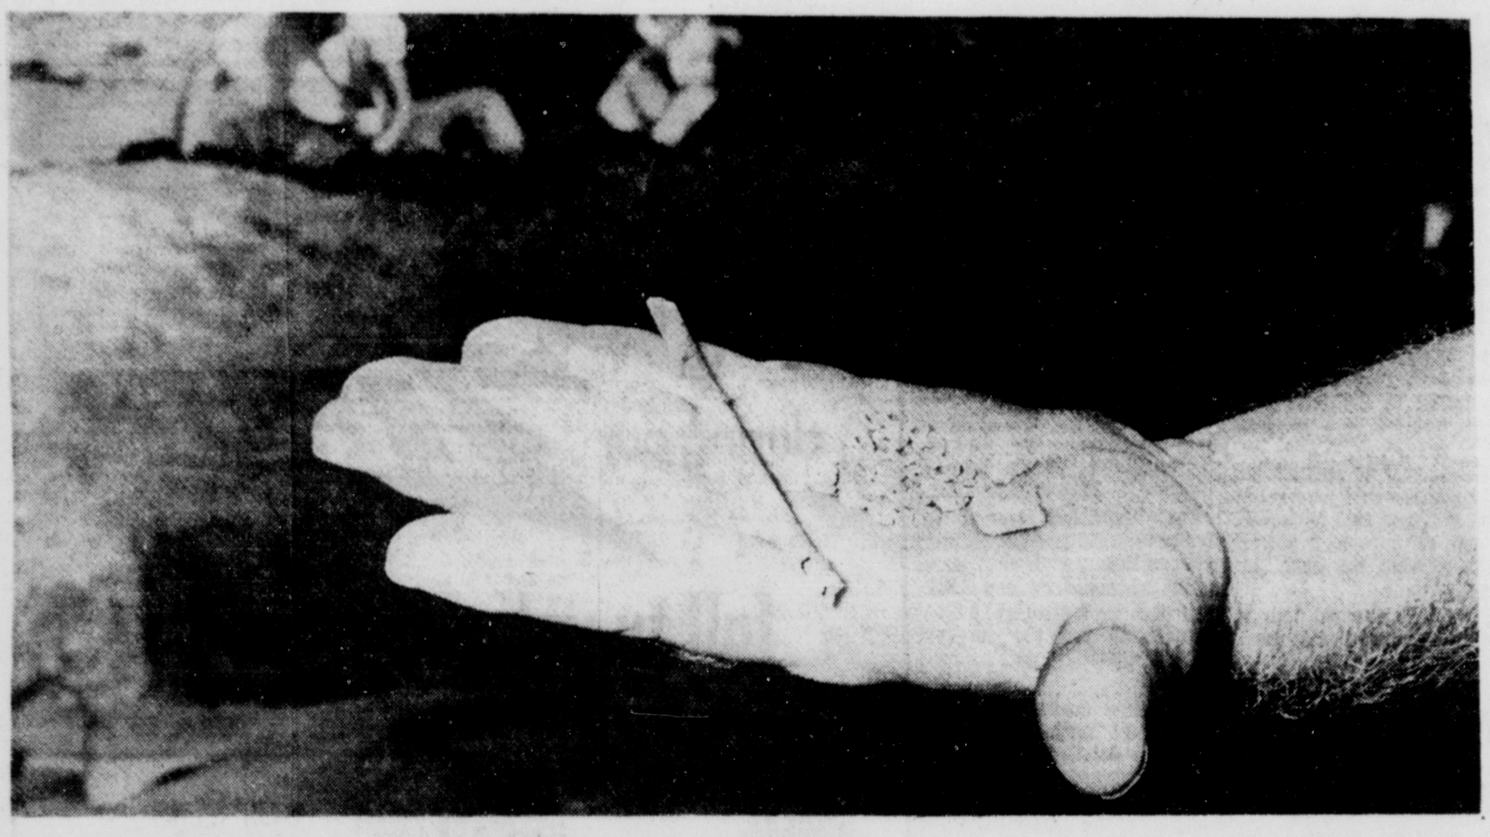
CAREFUL DIGGER — Don Dixon turns the soil gently to avoid destroying fragile artifacts, while Robert Edwards of San Francisco State College and curious children sift the dirt for beads, shards, tools and bones.



VITAL CLUES — Artifacts like these beads and whistle may help archeologists unravel the mysteries of a culture much older than previously known to exist in Marin.

Find May Be Major Link To Early Marin Indians

An important find added to the scanty knowledge of early Indians in Marin this week when seven Indian skeletons believed to date back to 500 B.C. were found at the end of Blackfield Drive, Tiburon.

David A. Frederickson, assistant professor of anthropology at Sonoma State College, said he believes the Indian site may be the oldest one to be excavated in Marin County.

Objects in the site are similar to artifacts found in the "early middle horizon," 2,000 B.C. to 1 A.D., and Frederickson figures these skeletons and artifacts belong in the period from 1,000 B.C. to 500 B.C., and represent a new population of Indians moving into California.

Frederickson is trying to deternine if the Indians were Hokan-speaking or Penutian-speaking Indians, both of which flourished in the "middle horizon."

He credits a new county ordinance and a patient developer with making possible the discovery.

Marin has a new antiquities ordinance, approved by the board of supervisors in June. The ordinance declares it unlawful for anyone to disturb an Indian site without permission from the county public works department.

The county appointed Frederickson in August to evaluate the site, which was found to contain two Indian mounds, now called Marin 26 and Marin 27. The site has been recorded since 1906, but had never been sampled.

The urgency to dig into it came about when Lytton Savings and Loan Co. starting developing Reedlands Woods Unit 2 in the area.

Frederickson recommended the site be investigated. A group of archaeology students from Novato High School, under the direction of John Macbeth, a teacher and experienced archaeologist at the school, completed the investigation of site No. 26.

Frederickson then brought a crew of volunteers, mostly archaeology students from around the Bay Area three weeks ago to begin digging site 27.

Lytton then contributed $250 so that Frederickson could hire two full-time experienced archaeology students to work on the site.

Thomas Wheeler of Richmond, a graduate of Contra Costa College and Dean Gaumer, student from University of California at Davis, started work this week. They will be there 24 hours a day, sleeping at the location to protect it from amateur archaeologists at night.

Frederickson said he will analyze the artifacts found, mostly beads and ceremonial objects, as time permits this fall.

FRUITFUL SOIL —Maryann Smith pores over the residue in her sifter, seeking ancient arrowheads among the worthless stones.

THE DEEP SIX — Down and down digs archaeologist Thomas King, peeling layer after layer of earth from the site believed to date back to the "early middle horizon's" 500 to 1000 B. C. period.

Einstein's Relativity Theory Being Put To A Strong Test

NEW YORK (SS)—Einstein's relativity theory puts a limit on how fast a particle can go; the speed of light in a vacuum. Some particles travel exactly that fast; most go slower.

Nobody has found a particle that breaks the light "barrier." But Dr. Gerald Feinberg of Columbia University has concluded that they could exist, without violating relativity.

And, true to the scientific attitude that anything can and will happen unless there's a specific law prohibiting it, he is championing experiments that would detect faster-than-light particles.

Dr. Feinberg's argument is based on the fact that a limit, mathematically speaking, has two sides, a lower side and an upper side. Particles that move slower than light can never be speeded up beyond the limit, according to relativity; but if they were already moving faster than light, the barrier would keep them from ever going slower.

Dr. Feinberg calls the predicted particles tachyons, from the Greek word "tachy," meaning swift.

A tachyon would have some peculiar properties. Its mass would have to be represented by what mathematicians call an "imaginary number," meaning that it doesn't have mass in the ordinary sense of the word; if it lost energy, for example by radiating light, it would move faster than before.

The best chance of detecting a tachyon would be if it had an electric charge.

Princeton University researchers are planning experiments with a proton accelerator or a radioactive source that would pick up the peculiar radiation coming from a charged particle moving faster than light.

Mathematical Equation Is Aiding In Cases Of Poison

WASHINGTON (SS) — Doctors may be helped in calculating the amount of poison a child has swallowed and the time he swallowed it as a result of a mathematical equation devised by a University of San Francisco team.

Dr. Arthur Furst told the American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics meeting at Howard University, Washington, D.C., how he and his co-workers at the Institute of Chemical Biology designed a cmputer program around the equation.

Application of the mathematical model to convulsions induced by hydrazine in mice and rats is a first attempt at such a calculating.

When the researchers injected alkyhydrazines into the animals, the rodents died in convulsions. The time they take to go into convulsions depends upon their weight.

Different animals can be used in setting up computer programs for the response times of various drugs, Dr. Furst believes. He also points out that fewer laboratory animals will be needed in predicting these responses.

The new method requires fewer than 20 animals to plot the necessary curve, whereas the techniques now in use require some 200. Dr. Furst predicts widespread applications in pharmacology of the computerized approach to calculating drug effects. His coworkers were George Ledin Jr. and Waldemar R. Gustavson. They have been working about a year and a half on their model.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Fungus Ailment In The Lungs Often Taken For Tuberculosis

VAN DELLEN

Histoplasmosis is a fungal infection that involves the lungs. In its severe forms, the disease often is mistaken for tuberculosis. Therefore any person admitted to a sanatorium is tested immediately for the disorder. This is one time that misdiagnosis is an advantage because the outlook in histoplasmosis is better than in tuberculosis.

MAN AND ANIMALS become infected by inhaling dust contaminated with the causative fungi. The organism exists in soil and is found in droppings from chickens and pigeons. Bat dung also contains the fungi explaining why those exploring caves run the risk of contracting the disease.

The symptoms resemble a cold with fever, cough, shortness of breath, and pleuritic pains. Hoarseness and generalized aching occur; some cough up blood. A chest X-ray at this time may reveal shadows easily mistaken for pneumonia or tuberculosis.

THE SPECIAL laboratory tests needed to make the diagnosis are seldom done unless the respiratory disease follows exposure to chicken or other bird excreta. Skin testing is accurate but several weeks elapse before tests become positive and the individual is likely to recover before this occurs.

Positive results are found in 80 per cent of the inhabitants in some parts of the United States indicating that the disease is common and is usually missed. This is understandable because histoplasmosis is easily mistaken for a cold.

THE EXCEPTION occurs when the fungi invade the liver, spleen, lymph glands, heart, and other organs. Fortunately, this more serious form of the disease is rare.

When the disorder becomes chronic with the formation of abscesses in the lung, Amphotericine-B is the treatment of choice.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

PERENNIAL PESSIMIST

J. B. writes: Is there something wrong mentally or physically with a person who can find no good in the world?

REPLY

Somewhere along the line this person may have been hurt and is unable to readjust to a problem. This individual should consult a physician, psychiatrist, or a religious adviser because we pass this way but once and I hate to see anyone waste a lifetime with this attitude.

RISKY DIET

J. R. writes: A friend told me that if you take a laxative after eating a fattening meal you will not gain weight. Taking the cathartic will release the foods eaten. Is this correct?

REPLY

This is not true unless the laxative purges the gastro-intestinal tract before food is absorbed. This is a risky way to avoid gaining weight.

HORNY NAILS

N. J. writes: Why can't doctors do something about common painful disorders like toenails that are so thick they can't be cut?

REPLY

If your condition is due to poor circulation, your physician or chiropodist will cut the nails. Otherwise, go to a cutlery store and buy yourself bigger and sharper clippers.

BAD NEWS

R. A. P. writes: Is it better to read a letter containing bad news before or after dinner?

REPLY

How can you tell beforehand what the letter contains? The results are the same, however. If it is read before dinner, appetite is affected; if put off until after dinner, indigestion may follow.

Pesticides In Foods Are On The Increase

WASHINGTON (SS) — Increasing numbers and amounts of pesticides continue to contaminate human food, officials of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration have found in a two-year investigation.

An average of 80 per cent of all foods examined during the two years contained some residues of inorganic bromide, R. E. Duggan and J. R. Weatherwax of the FDA report in the September issue of the magazine Science.

During both years, the highest total bromide residues were found in fruit and cereals. Residues of chlorinated organic pesticide chemicals were commonly found in all diets sampled and all food classes except beverages.

Meat, fish and poultry were the major source of pesticide residues. When combined with dairy products they account for more than half of the human intake of chlorinated organic pesticides. Fruits and grains each accounted for about 10 per cent of the intake of chlorinated pesticides.

DDT and its two analogues, dieldrin and lindane with heptacholorepoxide, account for 85 per cent of the total intake of chlorinated pesticides. DDT alone accounts for one-third of the total.

Thousands of food samples are examined by the FDA each year to determine compliance with established pesticide tolerances on raw agricultural products.

The present study covers the average daily human intake calculated from the findings of all pesticide residues on total diet samples collected on 46 days in 25 different cities during a 699-day period, ending in April 1966.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Household Economic Research Division assisted with the construction of the diet studied, selecting the eating habits of the 16- to 19-year-old age group because those teen-agers consume greater quantities and kinds of food than other population groups.

Although the residues of pesticide chemicals in a normal well-balanced diet are substantially below the danger limits set by the World Health Organization and the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, FDA investigators point out that "it cannot be said that pesticide residues in foods are not a matter of continued concern."

Mink Jacket, Jewelry Stolen

Thieves stole a mink stole and jacket, valued at $2,400, an a quantity of solid gold jewelry from her home yesterday on Makin Grade, Ross, Mrs. Vivian Hahn told police.

Besides the furs, two wrist watches, an antique gold match box with a small diamond attached, and a jade ring are missing, she reported.

Mrs. Hahn told Asst. Chief Alexander Mendoza she found a front screen door ajar upon returning at 4 p.m. from a three-hour trip to the San Francisco airport.

TV REVIEW

Script Cheats The Talents Of A Couple

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Well, it finally happened. A television ratings survey called our home last night to find out what show we were watching.

My wife, who was reading in the next room, answered the phone. Being under strict orders not to barge in while I am working unless someone calls with an offer of money, she took it upon herself to reply to the ratings survey. She said I was watching an old Frankenstein movie.

AN OPTIMIST

Well, she is an optimist anyway. As it happens, I was, at the time, in the process of being disappointed by the way Paula Prentiss and her husband, Richard Benjamin, had been let down by the writing and direction in the premiere of their new half-hour situation comedy series on CBS-TV, "He & She."

I guess the only new series I really would like to see be a great big whopping success is the Prentiss-Benjamin effort because they are two of the genuinely talented and just plain genuine people around.

The fact that they are indeed very real and very pleasant persons seems, however, to have escaped the attention of the normally astute Leonard Stern, the executive producer. For some of the situations and pratfalls were the sort of stuff that one falls back on only with lesser talents.

THE CHARACTERS

In the show, Benjamin portrays a cartoonist and Miss Prentiss his goodhearted, slightly scatterbrained wife, who works for a tourist aid society. In the opener, she succeeded in keeping an elderly Greek visitor in the United States.

After "He & She" Wednesday night, CBS-TV offered a new hour western, "Dundee and the Culhane," about an elderly lawyer (John Mills) and his young attorney companion. I can't recall exactly what it was all about because it was so dull and slow and talky that I almost fell asleep.

The generally disastrous night began on ABC-TV with "Custer," a new hour western about the fellow who had the last stand. ABC-TV is liable to bring on another congressional investigation with the violence of its new shows.

Pacific Tel Says Service To Suffer If Hike Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Service will deteriorate if Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. doesn't get a rate increase, its executive vice president testified yesterday before California's Public Utilities Commission.

Jerome W. Hull, the vice president, said the company has had to postpone and cut back on improvements because dividends are presently too small to attract additional capital from investors. Borrowing for such improvements would strain the firm's credit, he added.

"Without improvement in earnings, it would be impossible for us to maintain good service in the future," he declared. "Customers expect and want improvements."

PT&T is allowed a 6.3 per cent return on its investment and seeks a $181 million increase in charges to subscribers. That would make its return 7.5 per cent or 8 per cent.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Early Bird Communications satellite has been recruited to help fight a long-standing and time-consuming duty for travellers—clearing customs.

Early Bird transmitted advance information on passengers cargo on a Trans World Airlines (TWA) flight from Frankfurt to Dulles International Airport near Washington yesterday to demonstrate how paperwork and red tape could be speeded up.

Leftists Protest

TOKYO (UPI)—About 230 extreme leftist students clashed with riot police at Tokyo International Airport today only hours before Prime Minister Eisaku Sato was to leave for Taipei on an official visit to Nationalist China.

Miniskirt Is Here To Stay

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP — Principal Felix W. Andrus of Haverhill High School gave ground grudgingly as miniskirted girls darted through his corridors.

"The miniskirt is here to stay—we can't battle the manufacturers," he said yesterday. "We've got to be realistic about this. This is the style and most dresses are being sold this way."

Andrus said the school banned miniskirts last year "because they weren't so common so we considered them an extreme style."

"But now they will have to be accepted," he said.

$3,000 Rare Coin Theft Is Reported

William J. Potter told police yesterday that $3,000 in rare coins had been stolen from a chest in the storage room of his apartment building at 57 Forest Lane in San Rafael.

Police, who are uncertain as to the time of the theft, said a key was used to enter the room and the chest had been pried open.

Divorce Given Wife Of Slayer

MARTINEZ, Calif. (UPI) — The wife of convicted murderer-rapist Dennis Stanworth was granted a final divorce decree yesterday in Contra Costa County.

Mrs. Pamela R. Stanworth, 24, Pinole, obtained an interlocutory decree Sept. 2, 1966, shortly after Stanworth was arrested for the rape-slaying of two teen-age Pinole girls. She has one child by Stanworth and two by a previous marriage.

Stanworth, 25, who was sentenced to die in the gas chamber, currently is awaiting an appeal on San Quentin Prison's Death Row.

Auction Due Sunday At The Civic Center

Seventy pieces of equipment ranging from heavy construction equipment to little office machines, will go on the auction block this Sunday at 1 p.m. in the lower parking lot at the Marin County Civic Center.

"The equipment is lined up and we're all set to go," said John F. Hettrich, county purchasing officer. Auctioneer will be Kenneth Porte of Santa Barbara, who has conducted county auctions for Marin the past three years.

The city of Novato, the Novato Sanitary District and two water districts have also put up equipment to join with the county in the auction.

"The show piece will be the Austin-Weston grader with diesel engine and four wheel drive," said Hettrich. An old 1938 county fire truck is also among the heavy equipment. Smaller items include a filing frame and a medical examining table.

In past years, the county auction has grossed $9,000 to $25,000, but Hettrich would not make any estimates on this year's gross.

Woman's Scream Routs Intruder

A man described only as a "thin male with a light shirt" invaded a 73-year-old woman's bedroom in Marin City early today, but fled when she screamed for help; sheriff's deputies said.

The woman awoke at 12:40 a.m. to find the man, who apparently entered through an unlocked bedroom window, standing by her bed. When she screamed he fled out the front door.

The woman did not remember being wounded, but deputies found she had a minor wound on her hip, apparently from a knife. She was treated at Marin General Hospital and then taken to her son's home in Mill Valley.

Early yesterday a 59-year-old woman in Marin City was raped by a young man who also entered by an unlocked bedroom window. Police said it is not known whether the attacker was the same man in both cases.

Drunken Driving Fines Levied

Two men were sentenced yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

James Howard Waller, 49, Petaluma, was fined $150 and placed on a year's probation. California Highway Patrol arrested him Aug. 31 on Highway 101.

William Anthony McGuinn, 23, South San Francisco, was fined $50 and placed on a year's probation. The patrol arrested him Sunday on Highway 101.

One Percentage Point Separates Four A.L. Teams

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

First place in the American League is like a can of sardines, an elephant in a Volkswagen, a telephone booth holding 84 college students — crowded.

Minnesota, Chicago, Detroit and Boston all squeezed into the top spot last night in a virtual four-way tie which left baseball buffs scratching their heads to recall a similar jam so late in the season.

It took a crowbar to get a percentage point between the four as the Twins and White Sox each sported 78-61 records for a .561 percentage and the Tigers and Red Sox were a point behind at .560 with 79-72 marks.

"We're purposely doing this," says Chicago Manager Eddie Stanky with a smile. "We want to keep football off page 1."

On purpose or not the Tigers rushed in by whipping Kansas City in a twi-night doubleheader 8-5 and 6-3; the White Sox entered on tip-toes, nudging California 3-2 in 13 innings; the Red Sox made it by not playing, and the Twins made it all possible by losing an afternoon game to Cleveland 3-2.

Manager Cal Ermer of the Twins took his loss in stride and counted on Cleveland to help clean out the crowd.

"I hope Joe Adcock (Indian manager) plays Chicago the same way he played us," Ermer said. "He saved his best pitchers for us, knocked our hitters down and played for keeps. Cleveland has seven games left with the White Sox and four left with Boston, so the Indians could help us a great deal."

His losing pitcher, Dave oBswell, did some brooding after Luis Tiant outdueled him with a seven-hitter and singled in the two decisive runs in the fourth inning.

"I was told not to throw fastballs to Tiant because he was supposed to be a good fastball hitter," Boswell said. "So he hit a high slider. I think I've got a pretty good fastball and I'd just as soon challenge a pitcher with it. I believe I know a little bit about pitching in this league, with my stuff, after three years."

The Twins managed two runs off Tiant, 9-9, in the sixth on Rod Carew's two-run bloop single before Tiant shut the door.

Detroit took full advantage behind Eddie Mathews and Earl Wilson.

Mathews, an old hand at helping win pennants, drove in three runs in the opener with two homers, the second capping a four-run seventh inning and snapping a 4-4 tie. His first shot tied the game 2-2 before Ramon Webster and Dick Green homered for the A's in the fifth.

Wilson made sure of becoming the first 20-game winner in the major leagues by belting a tie-breaking two-run homer in the seventh inning of the nightcap for a 4-3 lead.

The White Sox, as is their way, made the scene the hard way against still ambitious California, which had won four straight and seven of eight and could have climbed within five games of the top with a victory.

The Sox needed two runs in the 11th on pinch hitter Smoky Burgess' run-scoring double and a passed ball that let in another run to get to the 13th. Then Duane Josephson singled with one out in the 13th and Ken Berry ended the four hour, 43 minute battle with a run-scoring double off Pete Gimino, the sixth California pitcher.

The Angels scored first in the 11th as two runs scored on Bubba Morton's single and a ground out.

Ron Cerrudo Will Start His Road To Pro Golf

THE PRO — Since I turned in my button, beanie and membership card to the John Brodie Fan Club (actually, I was drummed out of the corps for some derogatory columns), I have joined two other Fan Clubs. One is for Raymond Michael Sadecki of the San Francisco Giants. And the newest is Ronald Cerrudo of 151 Fernwood Drive, San Rafael.

Cerrudo is my type of athlete. Powerfully built with a thick neck, he can overpower a golf course. Yet, he has that deft touch of a surgeon around the greens. And — shades of Arnold Palmer—he has a flair for dramatics. He seems to be right in the thick of things when the pressure hits its peak.

RON CERRUDO

If you watched the National Amateur Golf Championship on television the last two Augusts, you probably are familiar with Cerrudo. He spent so much time before cameras that the Actors Guild may present him a special Emmy. He didn't win, but, boy, he made his presence felt.

Ronald Cerrudo is a golfer of considerable talents. This year he was ranked fourth best amateur in the nation. Among his more imposing credentials are a second place finish in the gruelling 1967 British Amateur and successive third place finishes in those U.S. Amateur tournaments of 1966 and '67. A U.S. Walker Cup, World Cup and Americas Cup member, Cerrudo can fill a room with amateur trophies.

BUT NO MORE. Monday he quit the simon-pure sport to play for pay.

"Actually, I am already considered a professional by amateur associations because I have announced my intentions of turning pro," the former San Jose State student said yesterday after returning from the summer tour.

He'll Put In 144 Holes Of Golf

"I'm leaving Sept. 23 for the PGA Rookie School in Palm Beach, Fla.," he added. "New pros have to qualify for a PGA card at the school. It's a two-week session from Oct. 2 through the 12th. I understand there are three or four lectures, but the main thing is we play 144 holes of golf to qualify for the PGA card. Last year I understand only about one-third of 90 golfers qualified, but I imagine a larger percentage will make the grade this year because of the higher caliber golfers."

CERRUDO'S FIRST professional tournament will be the Hawaii Open. "How about that?" he laughed. "That's a great place to break in, isn't it? I've never been to Hawaii before, so I'm really looking forward to it."

Before he leaves for the PGA Rookie School, Ron plans to spend most of his waking hours at practice. "I'll probably spend most of the time at Silverado (Napa)," he explained. "I'm an honorary member there. They have two fine courses, the best practice facilities and the weather is ideal."

Withdraws From America's Cup

Ron, who will turn 23 next Feb. 4, was to have represented the U. S. in the ninth Americas Cup amateur matches with Canada and Mexico at Guadalajara, Mexico Oct. 7-8, but had to withdraw Tuesday because of his professional status.

Bob Dickson, winner of both the U.S. and British Amateur championships this year, Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur, Tex. and Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla. are the other members of the U. S. team. A replacement for Cerrudo will be named this week.

WHEN HE JOINS the PGA tour, Cerrudo will have only one mouth to feed—his own. Asked about his marital intentions, he smiled: "I am not engaged and don't have any steady girl friend. At least not here. There are some—scattered."

Smart boy, that Ron. He's going places. We wish him well on the green pastures of professional golfdom.

Four Clippers On Stars Team

NEW YORK (AP) — The Oakland Clippers, Western Division champions of the National Professional Soccer League, placed four men on the league's All-Star first team announced yesterday by Commissioner Ken Macker.

The team:

Forwards—Willy Roy, Chicago; Mario Baesso, Oakland; Co Prins, Pittsburgh; Emmet Kapengwe, Atlanta; Art Welch, Baltimore.

Halfbacks—Reuben Navarro, Philadelphia; Juan Santisteban, Baltimore; Ilija Mitic, Oakland.

Fullbacks—Melvyn Scott, Oakland; Badu Da Cruz, Baltimore.

Goalkeeper—Mirko Stojanovic, Oakland.

Surprise: Two Runs For Perry

A funny thing happened at Candlestick Park yesterday—the San Francisco Giants scored some runs for hardluck pitcher Gaylord Perry.

Going into the seventh inning of their game with the Houston Astros, the Giants hadn't scored a run for the gangling right-hander in 22 innings.

But three singles, including a run-scoring belt by the pitcher, accounted for all the runs in a 2-0 triumph—the fifth straight win for the Giants and the seventh loss in a row for the Astros. The win also enabled San Francisco to take over second place in the National League by .002 over Chicago.

Perry was his usual parsimonious self against the Astros. He allowed three hits and extended his impressive scoreless inning streak to 34 with his third shutout of the season.

SHAKY START

Pitching with an extra day's rest following his 16-inning shutout stint in last Friday's 1-0 21-inning win in Cincinnati, Perry was off to a shaky start yesterday, but toughened in the clutch and finished with nine strikeouts.

Though most pitchers would be ecstatic following a three-hit shutout, Perry was mildly disturbed over George Morgan's first-inning double and a fourth-inning, two-base hit by Rusty Staub.

Morgan's hit skipped past first baseman Willie McCovey and into right field.

Staub's 40th double of the season bounced over first base, past McCovey and into foul territory.

Perry felt strongly that errors should have been charged in both instances.

ONE FLY BALL

Only one fly ball was hit to the Giants' outfield — a sixth inning drive by Staub. Houston's third hit was a grounder by Jim Wynn in the ninth.

The Giants, who concluded the two-game series this afternoon, broke through in the seventh inning yesterday after loser Dave Guisti retired the first two batters.

Perry's single scored Schroder and capped the scoring. The win boosted the right-hander's record to 12-15 and lowered his earned run average to 2.85.

The pitcher, a 21-game winner last season, is 12 and one-third shutout innings away from the National League record established by Giants farm director Carl Hubbell. Walter Johnson holds the major league mark with 56 consecutive scoreless frames.

Scuffle Puts End To Softball Game

A big scuffle in the seventh inning ended the Marinwood-Indian Valley game in a 2-2 tie in San Rafael Recreation Department Class B Softball action at Albert Field last night.

Each team had two runs, five hits and two errors at the time of the sudden end.

Clark Graebner Confident About Taking On Emerson

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — "He'll be more scared of me than I'll be of him—the pressure will all be on his side of the court."

He may be churning inside but scholarly looking Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, is outwardly full of calm and confidence as he looks toward his quarter-final battle with Australia's veteran Roy Emerson tomorrow in the National Tennis Championships.

Seeded seventh, the highest ranking of the thin American threat, the 23-year-old Graebner doesn't figure to have much chance against the nut-brown, 31-year-old Queenslander, who won this title in 1961 and 1964 and who many think will do it again.

But Graebner thinks differently.

"Emmo and I have played five times and I have a 3-2 edge on him," the handsome, bespectacled dentist's son said. "I beat him twice and lost once in Australia. I beat him 7-5 in the fifth in one match in Europe and he beat me once 8-6 in the fifth. We've played very closely."

Graebner, booted off the U.S. Davis Cup team a year ago because of his violent temper, swept into the quarter-finals for the second straight year yesterday by beating Mark Cox, England's No. 3 Davis Cup ace, 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

"I have a much better attitude now," Clark, once known as a doubles specialist, said. "I just go in there and bang away. I don't let little things bug me any more. Also, I'm using one of these new steel rackets. I think it has helped my game tremendously."

Graebner is one of four U.S. survivors. The other three were scheduled for fourth-round action today. Ron Holmberg, the balding veteran from West Point, N.Y., played Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., in one match while Bobby Lutz, the Los Angeles youngster, faced South Africa's Bob Hewitt in another.

OTHER MATCHES

The remaining men's fourth-round matches sent Wimbledon champ and No. 1 seed John Newcombe of Australia against Ray Moore of South Africa and left-handed Owen Davidson of Australia against Mexico's Rafael Osuna, winner here in 1963.

Graebner was joined in the quarter - finals yesterday by Emerson, who toyed with Marcelo Lara of Mexico, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4; Ron Barnes of Brazil, who beat Australia's Bill Bowrey, 7-5, 3-6, 9-7, 7-5, and Jan Leschly, the remarkable 26-year-old Danish druggist, who scored his third straight upset in beating Thomas Koch of Brazil, 4-6, 6-3, 6-8, 6-2, 6-1.

The little left-hander previously had beaten fifth-seeded Cliff Drysdale and former runner-up Frank Froehling.

SEMI-FINALS

The lower bracket of the women's division is slated to go into the semi-finals today. Second-seeded Ann Haydon Jones of Britain plays 18-year-old Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., and Leslie Turner of Australia, No. 5, goes against Rita Bentley of Britain.

Wimbledon champion Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., gained the quarter-finals yesterday, beating Virginia Ward of Britain 6-1, 6-4. Tomorrow she will play Annette Van Zyl of South Africa, who won over Carole Graebner, Clark's wife, 6-4, 6-4.

Francoise Durr of France, who won over 18-year-old Lynne Abbes of Orinda, Calif., 6-1, 5-7, 6-3, faces another U.S. junior, Valerie Ziegenfuss, who surprised with an easy 7-5, 6-1 victory over Judy Tegart of Australia.

World Series Starts Oct. 4, If No Playoff

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert has announced the dates for this year's World Series but the bunched American League race could cause a change in plans.

If the pennant is decided when the season winds up Oct. 1, the Series will begin Wednesday, Oct. 4 in the American League winner's park. The second game will be played Thursday, Oct. 5.

After a day off for travel, the Series will resume Saturday Oct. 7 in the National League park. Game four will be played Sunday, Oct. 8 and the fifth game, if needed, will be Monday, Oct. 9. If a sixth and seventh game are needed, they will be played Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 11-12.

An American League pennant tie could scramble those plans considerably. Under A.L. regulations, should two teams tie for the pennant they would play a best-of-3 series. If three teams tie, a maximum of five games could be played in a round robin series in which teams losing two games would be eliminated.

In the event of a four-way deadlock, two sets of best-of-3 series will be played with the survivors meeting in another best-of-3 playoff for the title.

After yesterday's games, all four American League contenders, Minnesota, Chicago, Boston and Detroit, were in a virtual first-place tie.

Playoff plans, should they be necessary, will be announced by the American League in about 10 days.

Commissioner Eckert also gave authority to the St. Louis Cardinals, Chicago White Sox, Detroit Tigers, Boston Red Sox and Minnesota Twins to print World Series tickets.

Leading Golfers Are Turning Pro

NEW YORK (AP) —Leading amateurs Ron Cerrudo, Marty Fleckman and Bob Smith are turning professional and won't be able to play in the Americas Cup golf match with Canada and Mexico, the U.S. Golf Association said today.

Cerrudo, 22, San Rafael, and Fleckman, 23, Port Arthur, Tex., were named to the five-man team, and Smith, 25, Sacramento, was named second alternate by the USGA yesterday.

Joe Dey, executive director of the USGA, said he was awaiting word from Bob Murphy Jr., the first alternate from Nichols, Fla., on whether he would compete in the competition at Guadalajara, Mexico, Oct. 7-8.

Dey said William C. Campbell, the 44-year-old former U.S. Amateur champion from Huntington, W. Va., has agreed to play. He was the third alternate.

If Murphy does not play, the bid will go to the fourth alternate, Don Allen of Rochester, N.Y., said Dey.

Other regular members of the team are Bob Dickson, the U.S. and British Amateur champion from McAlester, Okla.; Marvin Giles III, Lynchburg, Va., and A. Downing Gray, Pensacola, Fla.

Cerrudo and Fleckman were on the Walker Cup team that beat Britain at Sandwich, England, last May. Cerrudo was runner-up to Dickson in the British Amateur.

Fleckman was low amateur in the U.S. Open at Springfield, N.J., last June and was the leader in the tournament after the first and third rounds.

Lions Deal Veteran To Rams

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions traded defensive tackle Roger Brown to the Los Angeles Rams today for three high draft choices, including the Rams' No. 1 pick next year.

Brown, 6-foot-5, 300 pounds, is 30 and a seven-year National Football League veteran. He has seen little action in the Lions' preseason games. He underwent surgery on his left knee in February.

"Roger has been a standout player for us over the years," Lions Coach Joe Schmidt said, "but we are looking to the future and feel that in our younger players we have adequate replacements for him."

Filling Brown's position in the Lions' defensive front four will be either Jerry Rush or Denis Moore. Rush, 23, is a 6-4 270-pounder and in his third season, while Moore is a 6-5, 260-pound rookie from Southern California.

Brown made All-Pro ranking twice in his seven-year Lion career and played in five Pro Bowls.

GRID PROSPECTS

Novato Hornets Small, But Quick

(Second in a series on Marin County Athletic League football prospects.)

By GARY TISCHLER

There seems to be a youth movement sweeping the Marin County Athletic League.

If that sounds facetious in terms of high school football players, it really isn't. Youth in prep football is a color — green, and a class — junior and sophomore.

There will be plenty of both at Novato High School this year, a thing that keeps second-year coach Al Scott from making any flat predictions about how good his Hornets are or aren't. He simply can't tell until there has been some combat-situation head-knocking.

Like quite a few other teams in the county, he has noticeable talent in the backfield.

Harold Fain set all kinds of school passing records at quarterback last year but Scott thinks junior Russ Dillon may be big enough and talented enough to fill his shoes.

SHOWED PROMISE

He showed some promise last year in every game he played, particularly when he came into the high-scoring Tamalpais frolic and perked up the Hornets with an instant TD pass.

Dillon is a letterman, one of twelve on the Hornet squad. But only four of them were starters last year and they may be the only seniors on the starting squad, give or take a couple. That's what youth means.

"Dillon is real aggressive," Scott said. "He's a competitor and throws a very nice ball. He's not exceptionally fast but he's not afraid to run."

The talent in the backfield extends to the runners, chief of which is senior halfback Larry Bresnan, a hard runner who impressed a lot of people last year and will probably do so again. He'll be ably assisted by fullback Corey Parfitt and halfback Dennis Baker, a junior.

JURIOR STARS

The other part-time starters were tackle George Malcumus, and defensive end Pat Dougherty, a fellow who made I-J prep of the week honors last year as a junior.

The rest of the lettermen are mostly on the defensive side, headed by defensive end Rick Smith, defensive halfbacks Pat Greene, and Jerry Johnson, tackle Ron Sparling, defensive back and end Bob Tait, center Erick Brooks, and linebacker-tackle Dan Granucci.

"We're pretty well stocked at linebacker and in the defensive backfield," Scott said. "The problem spot is in the line, particularly at tackle."

"It will be a pretty small line," he said. "We're not too big but we've got more overall team speed."

The line, whatever it looks like, is going to have to make the holes for those talented backs, which also included impressive fullback John Duran, a senior who scales around 170.

IMPROVEMENT

The Hornets, who won only two conference games under Scott's tenure last year, figure to be better this year.

"I know the kids now," he said. "That first year you have to learn a lot. I think we should do pretty well, but it's going to be a tight league. Terra Linda looks really good, so do most of the other teams."

"I just can't tell right now. The boys need to hit somebody else besides themselves. But the enthusiasm is there. That much I can say for sure."

Sometimes that's half the ball game.

HE MEANS NEIN

Ohio State football fans will have no trouble spotting defensive cornerback Jim Nein at Buckeye games. He's double-identified with a big number nine directly below his name Nein on his jersey. Nein, incidentally, means a definite no in German. Ohio State officials said yes to Nein's request for a single numeral, first on the Buckeye squad in 25 years. (AP Wirephoto)

Mrs. Zahner Wins Tourney

Mrs. Bert Zahner, winner of the Selma Samuels Trophy Tournament at San Geronimo National Golf Course in August, did it again yesterday, pacing Class A golfers in the Oakview Ladies Rover Golf Club's match vs. par tournament at Peacock Gap.

Mrs. Zahner wound up with a minus five score. Second was Mrs. Viola Carlson with a minus one.

Mrs. Otto Kloppenburg took Class B honors with a plus three followed by Mrs. Arthur Brodie with a plus nine. Mrs. Carlson won Ace of the Month prize.

The 'Dame' Shows Her Speed

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Dame Pattie, Australian challenger for the America's Cup, and the eliminated American contender Columbia met in an informal scrimmage yesterday off Newport.

Four hours of informal racing gave observers the impression that the challenger is a very fast boat. One reliable observer reported that Dame Pattie clearly outpointed and moved faster than Columbia, the 1958 America's Cup winner which has been rebuilt.

The two boats sailed twice over a course between two buoys about five miles apart in winds of 7-14 knots.

Skipper John Sturrock of Dame Pattie said the meeting between the two boats was not pre-arranged, but they both happened to be out sailing at the same time.

Columbia's regular skipper, Briggs Cunningham, was at the helm, but few of the boat's regular crew were aboard.

Columbia and Dame Pattie met in an impromptu brush last weekend and the Australian boat sailed considerably faster than her American rival in very light air. However, the results were inconclusive as Columbia did not use racing sails and lacked an adequate crew.

Yesterday's workout obviously pleased the Aussie crew, although Sturrock refused to go into detail on his yacht's performance.

When asked if he was happy with the performance of Dame Pattie, Sturrock grinned and replied: "Yes, I think so."

Giants' Cesar Gutierrez Wins PCL Batting Crown

Infielder Cesar Gutierrez of Phoenix, who was recently recalled by the San Francisco Giants, is the 1967 Pacific Coast League batting king with a .322 average, league statistician Bill Weiss announced today.

Gutierrez' winning mark was the lowest in 51 years. Duke Kenworthy of Oakland topped the loop with .314 in 1916.

Only two other men hit the magic .300 figure. Jim Fairey of Spokane hit .303 and Ricardo Joseph of San Diego belted an even .300.

Veteran slugger Willie Kirkland of Hawaii rated as the league power hitter. He slugged 34 homers, had 252 total bases and knocked in 97 runs to lead those departments.

BOWLING

AKRON, Ohio — Dave Davis of Phoenix, Ariz. yesterday regained the official money winning lead of the Professional Bowlers Association. Davis' victory in the $30,500 Nebraska Centennial PBA Open in Omaha Labor Day night boosted his earnings for the year to $40,565.

SOCCER

OAKLAND — A 21-team National Professional Soccer League is a prospect for next year, says Ken Macker, commissioner of the circuit. Officials of the 12-team National League and the 10-team United Soccer Association are discussing a merger, and a final decision may be made at a meeting in Chicago tomorrow.

FOOTBALL

The San Francisco 49ers traded second year offensive tackle David McCormick to New Orleans yesterday for an undisclosed draft choice, and recalled offensive tackle Dave Hettema from the waiver list.

BASKETBALL

Four players were released yesterday by the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association.

LeRoy Walker of Richmond, Calif., a guard from Utah State, was dropped because of a re-injured ankle. Cut from the training squad were Tom D'Donnell of San Francisco State, William Nash of Northern Arizona State, and Ralph Johnson of the University of California at Davis.

PHILADELPHIA — Hal Greer, one of the steadiest performers in the NBA, signed a one-year contract with the champion 76ers.

HOCKEY

OAKLAND — The California Seals said yesterday they will dedicate their Nov. 5 National Hockey League game against the champion Chicago Black Hawks as Cerebral Palsy Day and hope it assumes aspects of San Francisco's Shrine East-West football game.

TENNIS

PRETORIA, South Africa — Fred Stolle of South Africa beat Spain's Andres Gimeno 6-1, 6-2, and captured the Transvaal Professional Tennis Championship.

SAILING

NAPLES, Italy — Sweden's Arwed Von Gruenewaldt won one of two events of the day in the Finn Class European Sailing Championship in the Gulf of Naples and took the over-all lead in the competition.

MONTREAL — Henry Jotz of San Francisco stood sixth and Keith Percy of Halesite, N.Y., was seventh as Montreal's David Balfour captured the lead in the Flying Junior World Sailing Championships.

GENERAL

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. — Johnny Pouelsen, who put together, the first race car to hit 150 miles per hour at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, and Rhiman A. Rotz, chairman of the U.S. Auto Club's rules committee, were killed in the crash of Pouelsen's two-engine plane.

LEADVILLE, Colo. — John J. Tising, who once pitched for the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League, died at the age of 64.

OAKLAND — Tentative agreement on a new contract was reached yesterday between the Building Services Union and Allied Maintenance Corp. which supplies workers for the Oakland Coliseum.

Terms of the agreement will be revealed following ratification by members of locals 18 and 121 of the union. A spokesman for Allied called the proposal "a fairly long-term agreement."

Cards Hold Up On Ticket Talk

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Officials of the St. Louis Cardinals are hesitant about counting their World Series tickets before the Birds hatch a pennant.

The Cardinals asked yesterday that fans hold up their ticket requests until procedures for ordering the tickets are announced.

Baseball Commissioner William Eckert already has given the Cardinals permission to print the tickets.

Briles Wins Sixth Straight For Cards; Gibson Is Back

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

When a line drive fractured Bob Gibson's right leg two months ago, the St. Louis Cardinals' pennant hopes appeared certain to crack at the seams.

Then Nelson Briles threw his right arm into the breach. . .and never let go.

Now Gibson's ready to put his best foot forward again, but there's no relief in sight for Briles.

Briles, an unheralded member of the bullpen brigade until July 15, when Gibson was felled by a Roberto Clemente liner, rolled to his sixth straight victory last night, scattering five hits as the National League-leading Cardinals trimmed the New York Mets 3-1.

While Briles was limiting the Mets to an unearned run, San Francisco's Gaylord Perry and Philadelphia's Jim Bunning were throwing blanks at Houston and Cincinnati, respectively.

Perry beat the Astros 2-0 with a three-hitter, and Bunning flipped a six-hitter in stopping the Reds 9-0 for the 39th shutout of his career. Los Angeles downed the Chicago Cub 6-3 and Atlanta split a doubleheader at Pittsburgh, winning the opener 4-1 and dropping the nightcap by the same score.

Briles, a stocky right-hander who finished the 1966 season with a 4-15 mark, is 11-5 this year, with seven victories in nine decisions since he stepped into the starting rotation. He has completed three of his last four starts and leads St. Louis starters with a sparkling 2.50 ERA.

"We thought at first he was more valuable in the bullpen," said Cards Manager Red Schoendienst. "He saved six games for us at the start and he was pitching just about every other day.

"When Gibson got hurt, we had to take Nelson out of the bullpen. He has done a tremendous job."

The Cards were four games in front when Gibson was hurt. They lead the pack by 11½ games today.

Gibson returns to action tonight against the Mets. But Briles will not lose his spot in the rotation. Instead, Schoendienst said, southpaw Larry Jaster will go to the bullpen.

"We'll go with right-handers as starters because for the rest of the year we'll be facing predominantly right-hand hitting clubs," Schoendienst said.

Briles and New York's Jack Fisher were locked in a 1-1 duel until the eighth inning, when the Cards' pitcher singled, took second when left fielder Tommy Davis bobbled the ball, reached third on Lou Brock's bunt and scored on a sacrifice fly by Curt Flood. Mike Shannon's ninth inning homer provided an insurance run.

Cal Gridders Small, Must Rely On Speed

BERKELEY (AP) — California has its physically smallest football squad since Ray Willsey came here as coach three seasons ago, but "I'm not alarmed. We have more team speed and our defenders won't be outrun quite so badly by other teams' record holders."

That's what Willsey told the Skywriters—sports writers from the Pacific-8 Conference area—yesterday.

He has put the Bears through such strenuous conditioning drills since training opened a week ago that 10 have quit and the squad is down to 65 toughened candidates. Without size, he must depend upon team speed and condition.

He has some speedy backs—three sets—but is short of both offensive and defensive linemen. He's worried about depth.

Great hopes rest on quarterback Barry Bronk, who seems fully recovered from a shoulder injury that required surgery.

For backfield speed, Willsey looks to Paul Williams, a transfer from Benedict College in South Carolina, which dropped football; Stan Royster, a track man last spring; Troy Cox, a junior "who runs well, but is no blazer; we have no blazers;" George Gearhart, a senior letterman, and Gary Fowler, from the frosh.

Asked about formations, Willsey said the Bear offense probably would work from a basic "I". Defense will be a basic eight-man line.

As to the type of game the Bears will play:

"If we think we can throw, we'll throw.

"If we think we can run, we'll run."

"If we think we can go up the middle, we'll go up the middle."

Against Notre Dame, the second opponent, on Sept. 23?

He has shifted Wayne Stewart from defensive halfback to split end seeking a good receiver. Stewart intercepted well last fall.

He singled out Ed White and Bob Crittenden, lettermen tackles, as potentially outstanding on a defense he labelled as adequate otherwise.

"If I had 9 or 10 Crittendens I wouldn't fear anyone," he said.

California opens the season here Sept. 16 against Oregon and badly needs a victory to instill morale.

Boxing Twin Bill Slated Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — Two men who have defeated Jimmy Lester and Jimmy himself headline an unusual 8:30 doubleheader boxing card in the Oakland Arena tonight.

Luis Rodriguez, former world welterweight champion aspiring to a comeback, meets Ferd Hernandez in the windup battle. Each outpointed Lester by a comfortable margin.

Lester fights Art Hernandez, Ferd's brother, in the other 10-round feature.

Can Giants Swing Deal For Houston's Morgan?

HOUSTON—It is no secret that the Giants need a second baseman who can hit. Little Joe Morgan of the Astros is such a man.

Now, it generally was believed that the Astros never would trade Morgan. But that is an erroneous belief. The Astros still regard Morgan very highly and are not seeking any deal for him.

However, they might be persuaded to part with Morgan for a front line catcher because they do need help at that position. The Giants have three catchers, Tom Haller and Dick Dietz with the big club, Bob Barton on loan to the Cubs' farm club at Tacoma.

An inquiring reporter learned from a top Astro official that Houston's list of untouchables include four men, two outfielders and two pitchers. They are Rusty Staub, Jim Wynn, Larry Dierfer and Don Wilson.

SO MORGAN, an Oakland boy overlooked by Giant scouts when he played for Castlemont High, would be more available than other second basemen, such as Cincinnati's Pete Rose, whose name is used from time to time in speculative dream deals.

Cincinnati isn't going to trade Rose even though he no longer plays second base for the Reds. Cincinnati fans wouldn't stand for it. Rose is a local Cincinnati boy whose popularity increased when he volunteered to play the outfield after the Reds traded away Frank Robinson to the Baltimore Orioles.

AND ALL baseball fans know of Cincinnati's reaction to the Robinson deal, especially after Robinson won the American League pennant last season for the Orioles and was voted Most Valuable Player in the league.

The reaction was so violent, with Bill DeWitt being hanged in effigy, that he sold the ball club. The new management of the club is not about to stir up the wrath of Cincinnati fans again by trading an extremely popular local player.

SO DISREGARD any talk that the Giants have a chance of getting Rose even if they came up with a handsome package of players. But there is a chance of getting Morgan. Of course, the consideration would have to be right, perhaps an infielder or pitcher to go along with a top catcher.

Morgan, appropriately nicknamed "Little Joe," is only 5-7, 150. He not only is a good second baseman, he is an ideal leadoff man who drew 89 bases on balls in 1966 and 97 in 1965. In addition, he can hit, .285 last season, .271 in 1965.

Munyon Led Sohner Team In Batting

Catcher Jess Munyon paced the Sohner Tree Service hitting attack for the recently-concluded softball season, according to statistics released by the San Anselmo team.

Munyon led the club in hits (52), runs batted in (32), home runs (5) and triples (6) while posting a .281 batting average, fourth-best on the team.

First baseman Nolan Wilson led the Treemen in hitting with a .313 average and second-sacker Ron McCamish had seven doubles to lead in that department.

After a slow start due to his battle with a ruptured appendix, pitcher Morey Swarm compiled a 21-7 mark and 1.23 earned average.

The most impressive record by any Sohner player was posted by righthander Dave Shallenberger who allowed only one earned run in five games for a 0.20 ERA and a 4-1 mark.

Sohner's over-all record was 40-21, a far cry from the fantastic 62-14 mark set in 1965.

Warriors To Play In S.F., Oakland

The San Francisco Warriors signed a contract yesterday to play 24 National Basketball Association games at the San Francisco Cow Palace.

The Warriors' 18 other home games will be in the Oakland Arena.

The NBA season will open at the Cow Palace Oct. 13 with San Francisco meeting the Seattle Supersonics.

An exhibition doubleheader is scheduled for the Cow Palace Sept. 30, featuring the Los Angeles Lakers against the Baltimore Bullets, and the San Francisco Warriors against the Cincinnati Royals.

Cow Palace facilities have been modernized by a $1.6 million project.

Packers, Rams Favored In NFL

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay will win the West. Who else? The Packers already have installed an electric heating system to warm the field for the Dec. 31 title game.

The Packers convinced both the NFL and the AFL last season when they added the Super Bowl to their triumphs in the National Football League.

Green Bay's opponent on New Year's Eve probably will be Dallas. Before that game, they must dispose of the Los Angeles Rams, who are the pick here to take the Coastal Division of the West.

BOOTS, PARKAS

It looks like a big season for the snow boot and parka set. Green Bay winds up its regular season at home, Dec. 19. If they win the Central Division, as expected, they play the Coastal winner at Green Bay Sat. Dec. 23. If they win that they play the Eastern champs Dec. 31, once more at Green Bay.

Here's the way the West looks from here:

CENTRAL
1. Green Bay
2. Detroit
3. Minnesota
4. Chicago

COASTAL
1. Los Angeles
2. San Francisco
3. Baltimore
4. Atlanta

It may take a year or two for Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski to make people forget about Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor. It may. The Gold Dust Twins are ready to cut loose after watching from the bench most of last year.

When Bart Starr can't play, Zeke Bratkowski can do the job as the Dallas Cowboys discovered in their Aug. 28 exhibition game. The Pack's 20-3 victory in pre-season convinced many Texans that last year's game in the Cotton Bowl was no mistake.

Defense is the big item at Green Bay. Willie Davis-Henry Jordan and Co., plus those three linebackers and a talented deep defense shut down tight when the enemy threatens.

The runner-up to Green Bay is a wide open scramble. Minnesota appears to have troubles at quarterback, now that Fran Tarkenton is gone. Perhaps, Bud Grant, the new coach, will find the answer early but the safe thing to do is to give him time to get things together by mid season.

The Vikings were hurt badly by injuries in training camp and still have troubles with the bomb. Quarterback Joe Kaap, obtained from the Canadian League could help.

Despite their shocking defeat by Denver in the first NFL-AFL game, Detroit appears to be putting things together. Whether Joe Schmidt finally settles on Karl Sweetan or Milt Plum, the No. 1 quarterback will have fine targets in Pat Studstill., Gail Cogdill and Bill Malinchak.

Much depends on Mel Farr and the injured Nick Eddy, two prize rookies.The Lions' defense is getting old together but still can rise to the occasion.

CHICAGO PROBLEMS

Chicago has many problems, aggravated by retirements, injuries and trades. Jack Concannon's slow recovery from arm trouble has left the quarterback job unsettled. The one big plus is Gale Sayers, the best game-breaker in pro football.

The new divisional setup should prove a boom to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Baltimore, who can handwrestle for a title without having to contend with Green Bay on a home-and-home basis. Atlanta is in the same division but hardly rates as a contender despite improvement.

John Unitas is the reason the Colts are favored in most pre-season polls to beat out the Rams and 49ers. Unitas always has been able to beat San Francisco just by walking out on the field. However, some doubts about Unitas' ability to go all the way has swung this observer off the Colts despite their rugged defense.

Los Angeles can take it all if Tommy Mason and Dick Bass stay healthy. Bass made it in every game last year. Mason, who wears yards of tape around his knees, has been a part timer at Minnesota for years. George Allen rested both in the exhibitions and hopes to get full use in the regular season.

Roman Gabriel and Bill Munson are capable quarterbacks and they have receivers like Jack Snow, Bernie Casey and Tommy McDonald. Most of all, the Rams have that fearsome foursome up front on defense—Lamar Lundy, Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen and Rosey Grier.

Grier, however, suffered a leg injury last Friday night in an exhibition game against Kansas City and is expected to be sidelined at least two months.

MIXED UP 49ERS

The 49ers, a mixed up club last year, are sniffing big money this season. The defense is questionable but they can move the ball with John Brodie throwing to Dave Parks and John David Crow and Ken Willard running up the middle.

Baltimore offense sagged last year when they scored only seven touchdowns rushing. It will be up to the defense to keep them in the game while waiting for Unitas to throw the bomb.

The Falcons have added Tom Moore to help their running game and Randy Johnson should be better with a year under his belt.

Tam High Grid Preview Saturday

Tamalpais High School football coach Willie Hector and his staff will outline their plans for the upcoming prep football season at a Tam Boosters Club gathering, open to the public, Saturday beginning at 1:30 p.m. on the Tam field in Mill Valley.

The coaches, using the Tam gridders as demonstrators, will go over the offense and defense formations. The demonstrations will be followed by an intra-team scrimmage.

Chattel Investment Exchange Is In Hub Landmark Building

A new business has been opened in a San Anselmo landmark building—and the two appear to be well suited to each other.

The business is called Chattel Investment Exchange, a public display center for the exchange of antiques and other valuable and imported objects. The building is the former San Anselmo office building of Frank Howard Allen and Co. at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bank Street, which was vacated by this realty firm several months ago.

It has been leased by Mrs. August Stemmer of Greenbrae, who will operate the business. Mrs. Alice Allen and Donald Suhr of the Allen San Rafael office handled the transaction.

Lower floor will be devoted to glassware and china, while the upper floor will be an art gallery. In addition to selling merchandise she will allow objects of over $100 in value to be displayed by others and handle their sale on a commission basis.

Many years ago, before the Allen company occupied it, the building was a bank and the old vault has remained all these years. This and a burglar alarm system give Mrs. Stemmer provision for storing articles of exceptional value.

Hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

MERCHANDISE of Center Hardware, Fairfax, which recently went into bankruptcy, has been purchased by John Stella of Anthony's Bargain Center and Auction Depot in Colma. Stella is now holding a liquidation sale at the Fairfax store, located at 713 Center Boulevard in the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center. He will have to close out by Saturday night.

DR. L. R. HONNEN of Novato has been appointed a senior research chemist at the Richmond laboratory of Chevron Research Co. He joined the company in 1963 and has been engaged in the field of lubricating oil detergents. In his new position he will continue exploratory research on lubricating oil additives.

EDWARD P. EDWARDS, manager of Sierra National Bank's Corte Madera branch in the Paradise Shopping Center, has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the Optimist Club's zone seven, composed of Marin, Napa, Sonoma and Mendocino counties, to fill the unexpired term of Maj. John Dallas of Napa, retired from the U.S. Army.

TWO TIBURON MEN have been appointed to the advisory board of Novato Savings and Loan Association to increase the board to nine members. Named were Ben Farlatti, head of Tiburon Lodge, and Arnold Vasa, owner of Corinthian Pharmacy. Novato Savings maintains an office in Tiburon.

Irregular, Active Day; Little Strike Reaction

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with an irregular pattern today. Trading was fairly active.

Big Three auto stocks showed scant reaction to the calling of a strike against Ford. Minor price changes were shown.

Some wider moves were made by miscellaneous issues. Xerox lost several points. Stokeley Van Camp was ahead by a handful of points.

Motorola was active and weak following a call of convertible debentures which would dilute the outstanding stock.

Allis Chalmers also was an active loser throughout the day.

Also active, Collins Radio and Motorola dropped about 3 each, Sperry Rand and Green Giant more than a point.

Philadelphia & Reading advanced nearly 2 in heavy trading. Thiokol, RCA and Electronic Associates gained a point or more.

Xerox fell more than 7 points, IBM 4, Polaroid 3 and Du Pont nearly 2.

International Nickel and Homestake dropped more than a point each.

Don't Bet Heavily On Predictio Ad Absurdum

In the Old Math, there was a process called reductio ad absurdum (otherwise known as "getting the answer the hard way").

In the New Planning, there is a popular process which might well be called predictio ad absurdum.

The Old Math's reductio ad absurdum consisted of reducing the possible approaches of the problem to the correct one by demonstrating the absurdity of the others.

THE NEW PLANNING'S predictio ad absurdum consists of selecting a possible approach and projecting it into the future (the farther the better) without regard to any other approaches.

If the auto makers have a good sales year, for instance, the number of new autos that year is taken as showing a trend, and the increase is projected into the future on a proportional basis. This is then shown on a chart on which the one year's "trend" becomes a curve which shoots upward at a steepening rate.

When this is practiced properly, the planner must ignore the fact that the preceding year was a bad one for car sales, so that the latest year's big increase was in part compensating for a previous slowdown and should be part of a longer line rising less sharply.

PREDICTIO AD ABSURDUM has been widely used in local planning in Marin County. For instance, let's take some examples of projecting the population:

The Army Corps of Engineers, in its exhaustive Bay Area study published in 1959, predicted Marin County would have 181,000 people in 1970, increasing to 257,000 in 1980 and 347,000 in 1990.

By March, 1962, the Corps of Engineers' chart was already out of date, and Van Beuren Stanbury, making projections for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, projected Marin's 1970 population as 240,000, that in 1980 as 350,000.

The next year, the Marin County Planning Department came out with projections showing 217,600 people in 1970, going to 295,000 in 1980 and 370,000 in 1990.

WHO WAS RIGHT? Nobody will know, of course, until those dates come around. Data from the past merely demonstrates the unreliability of such projections.

U.S. census figures show that from 1890 to 1910 — a 20-year period — the population of the United States increased at an average of two per cent per year.

If that rate had been maintained (as it would be projected on a graph using that as base period), the 1960 population would have been 226 million. Actually it was 179,323,175.

However, from 1930 to 1940, U.S. population increased only seven per cent in 10 years. If that rate had continued (as it was shown on some charts at that time), the 1960 population would have been only 151 million.

It would seem not too wise to base all our preparations for the future on predictio ad absurdum.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Decline Of LBJ's Popularity— Will It Mean His Fall In '68?

(Roscoe Drummond is on a brief vacation. Today's column is by the chief of the Washington Bureau of the Baltimore Sun.)

By PHILIP POTTER

WASHINGTON — This has been a long, hot summer for President Johnson, but in Administration and Democratic political ranks there is a conviction that cool winds are coming and his re-election prospects, like Harry Truman's in 1948, are not so bleak as they seem.

Not all share the optimism, for among the President's present and onetime associates there are both bulls and bears in rating his stock, but, in the main, the belief is that the summer's sharp skid in popularity as measured by public opinion polls can and will be rectified.

The rapid descent is attributed by close associates to the fact that Mr. Johnson has no devoted personal following to cushion adverse blows, a boon enjoyed by both Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy.

EVERY PRESIDENT is a scapegoat when things go wrong, and this one was made for "scapegoatism."

Until this summer's riots his major hold on public confidence was his image of can-do President, based on his successful way with the 88th and 89th Congresses.

The riots badly dented this image. Samson was shorn of his hair.

Some who once were close to Mr. Johnson say they now find him withdrawn and increasingly distrustful of old friends and colleagues, too tired himself and surrounded by too many tired officials, plagued by too many seemingly unsolvable problems.

These are the bears.

THE BULLS are convinced not all is lost. It is 14 months to election, they say, and Mr. Johnson is still in the White House, in command of the tools of power and the country's greatest pulpit. His options may have narrowed a little, but he still occupies the political center and has not yet got into irretrievable positions at home and abroad.

If the country's mood is that way, they say, he could emerge as the country's major peace candidate.

They see Democratic disarray as always more prominent between elections than when the balloting nears, while Republican unity is often shattered at election time because of the difficulty of melding moderates and conservatives.

The GOP, say some old pros who have served both Kennedy and Johnson, has produced nothing program-wise to convince the people they can outdo the Great Society. On the contrary, Republican legislators in the House have hung a pro-rat tag on their party by their vote against a federal rat extermination bill.

Democratic bulls admit it is not pleasant to ask a pre-election tax boost and perseverance in a war far from our own shores, but in the long run, they hold, both will earn public respect. Republicans who seek to cash in on Vietnam inevitably will be asked how they are going to get the peace. In the meantime, Mr. Johnson will bend every effort to achieve it and may succeed. As Sen. Thruston Morton, R.-Ky., says, that will make it a new ball game.

PARENTS NEVER THROUGH WITH EDUCATION

A mother of five will see her children through 65 years of school (counting kindergarten) by the time they finish high school.

Though many of these high school years will run concurrently, the parent will still be involved in the whole process of education several times over.

Newspaper columnist Dorothy Rose lists practical ways by which parents can enrich those years for their children and at the same time make the educational experience meaningful for themselves as well.

"Read. Join the library if you don't belong.

"Don't consider your education completed, no matter how extensive it was. Study on your own, and your child will absorb your lively interest.

"Provide a good place to study at home.

"Spot trouble as soon as possible, and help your child or see that he receives help.

Parents have one of the greatest of God-given privileges — guiding the development of young minds that can meet the challenges of the decades ahead.

"We exhorted each one of you and encouraged you and charged you to lead a life worthy of God." (1 Thessalonians 2:11)

Grant abundant wisdom, O Holy Spirit, to all who are involved in the education of youth.

Guaranteed Wage Mere Opener As Reuther Plans New Party

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —More than a guaranteed annual wage and a big pay boost for 600,000 United Auto Workers are at stake in the strike threat Walter Reuther is hurling at the big three auto manufacturers.

When the union wins an acceptable contract the fiery UAW president may use the victory as his battle cry for forming a new political coalition with militant civil rights, peace, student, and welfare groups to influence the 1968 presidential election.

Reuther's political action plan calls for organizing the new coalition by linking nationwide campaign for a guaranteed annual income with the growing anti-Vietnam war and welfare protest movements.

UAW associates say that Reuther, who is de-committing himself from President Johnson, is firmly convinced the time will be ripe before the end of 1967 for him to lead the big union into this coalition.

Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., despite his announced commitment to the Johnson-Humphrey ticket, is Reuther's personal choice to head up the proposed new "Peace and Prosperity" party.

PREPARING THE WAY — For several years the 60-year-old Reuther has been methodically preparing the way for the formation of the new political coalition in 1968.

He privately encouraged Dr. Martin Luther King to embark earlier this year on the task of trying to unite the militant black groups, civil rights organizations, and the anti-war protestors. King climaxed this effort with his keynote address to the left-leaning National Conference for New Politics, last weekend in Chicago.

COMING SHOWDOWN — Meanwhile Reuther has flatly refused to pay his union's quota (estimated at nearly $100,000 a year) to COPE, the AFL-CIO's political arm.

This financial boycott will be one of the main topics on the agenda when AFL-CIO union leaders meet this month in New York to make plans for their national convention in Miami in December.

At the Miami convention Reuther is expected to show his 1968 plans. UAW insiders report that if the convention refuses, as Reuther expects, to endorse his views the "redhead" will pull 600,000-man union out of the AFL-CIO.

This walk-out will be the signal for the formal organization of the new political coalition which, they say, Reuther and King have been working to build since they organized a massive civil rights demonstration here four years ago.

Bouquets, Not Slaps To Lagunitas

The Independent-Journal (red faced) today extends a bouquet to trustees of Lagunitas School District for slicing 20 cents off the district's property tax rate as result of a "windfall" in state school funds reapportionment.

Lagunitas District shared slaps with several others in Marin in a Monday editorial for failing to take advantage of the windfall to cut the tax rate.

This was in error. Supt. Marshall J. McCuniff of the Lagunitas School District appeared before county supervisors Friday with a request that the unexpected money be applied to the district budget and the rate cut by 20 cents — from $3.575 to $3.375 per $100 assessed valuation. This is still an 8½-cent increase over last year's rate.

What happened? The writer of Monday's editorial will have to blame it on romance. After checking a trustee of Lagunitas District Thursday afternoon, he left for Texas to attend his daughter's wedding and did not return until Monday night. But Thursday night, McCuniff polled Lagunitas trustees and obtained their agreement for the reduction.

It was a very nice wedding.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Reasons For Some Adult School Classes

Editor, Indepndent-Journal:

May I express thanks to Brice Anderson for his Aug. 29 column devoted in part to discussing our college adult education program at College of Marin. Such interest is appreciated, and it is largely from constructive appraisals by informed citizens that we are able to make our program increasingly responsive to community requirements.

In connection with Mr. Anderson's understandable interest in reducing educational expenses, and other statements made in the above-named column, the following data are offered:

1. To make the majority of our college adult education classes self-supporting, we: (a) charge a registration-tuition fee of $6 for each student each quarter (which to my knowledge is among the highest, if not the highest, in the state); (b) require that there be an initial enrollment of at least 20 students in each class. The fees and state attendance credit, therefore, will not only pay for the instructional expense, but contribute to our direct overhead costs.

2. There is quite naturally some "duplication" of adult courses, not through implied negligence or proliferation, but simply to meet the students' needs. If there are sufficient foreign-born populations in Novato and Kentfield, for example, both requiring English for the Foreign Born (which, incidentally, we list as "English As a Second Language"), then both schools are apt to offer it — just as all day schools offer English, mathematics, etc. All our adult schools offer typing, physical education, and other basic subjects, for there is a numerical interest in and need for these courses, and if there is not sufficient registration they are cancelled.

3. Our course "History and Appreciation of Wine" are described as an "adult school" course. Our brochure states "This course is offered as a part of our community services program, and is not classified as a college adult education course. . . . Registration fee $10," etc. This means that we realize this is an unusual course, does not meet our adult education criteria, is offered strictly as a community service, and requires a higher fee to make sure it is completely self-supporting. Last spring there were 83 registrants! This time there should be at least that many, and my arithmetic tells me that it will show a handsome monetary return to the college — and help to pay for public service courses such as Lip Reading, Braille Transcribing, and our class for physically and mentally retarded young adults.

4. "Keeping Your Cool In A Hot World," which was also mentioned, is a free six-session symposium co-sponsored by our adult education department and Marin Association for Mental Health, at San Rafael High School auditorium. The first meeting on Oct. 3 deals with man's search for love and affection; let's all attend!

Resignee Denies He's Hippie-Oriented

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your front page story of Sept. 5, headed "Closed Hearts Bring Resignation", contained an unfortunate and irresponsible statement by Mrs. (Edwin F.) Gardner. I wish to place on record a rejoinder to her comment that I am "hippie-oriented."

Never have I mentioned hippies in defining my position on the poverty question in West Marin. Hippies, as such, have nothing to do with this issue. My concern, as I have expressed it, is for the poor.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Important Bills Won Signature Of Governor In Closing Days

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, during the closing days of the bill signing period, wrote some important legislation into California's statutes.

The governor signed AB 1432, by Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-North Hollywood, which increases the number of members of the Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board from three to five. The new law requires that two of the five members be attorneys.

Approval of the measure will have the effect of giving the governor control of the board, as appointments are by term, as well as speeding up the operation. The unemployment insurance appeals board probably is one of the hardest working groups in California, and the addition of two members will divide the work load and no doubt assure claimants who make appeals faster service.

The governor signed AB 758, 58, by Assemblyman Alan - Patteem, R-Monterey which creates the state Race Track Leasing Commission. This measure is designed to put the leasing to the Del Mar race track in San Diego County in the hands of the state, instead of the 22nd District Agricultural Association.

The directors of agriculture, finance and general services, with three members of the district board, will constitute the new commission.

He signed AB 1362, by Assemblyman Ed Z'Berg, D-Sacramento, which establishes the Tahoe Regional Planning Commission. The measure becomes effective upon adoption of a similar measure by the State of Nevada, and after approval by the U.S. Congress.

This was a highly controversial measure, opposed by the California counties surrounding the lake and by some of the Nevada counties. Major purpose is to avoid polluting the lake, and to retain its natural beauty for future generations. The measure has some distance to goe before it becomes effective.

Also signed was AB 2384, by Assemblyman Newton R. Russell, R-Burbank, directed at race track tipsters. The measure makes transmiting information relative t ohorse races to a person engaged in ellegal gambling operations punishable by imprisonment for from 30 days to a year.

"I don't think I ever saw a change come along but what the old folks questioned the need for improvement."

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Nothing that the agents of communism have done or can do in this country is so dangerous to the United States as what they have induced us . . . to do to ourselves. — Alan Barth in "Loyalty of Free men."

Let us do everything we can to facilitate the learning process, but let the "learning" remain in it. Let us not confuse . . . the pleasant with the important, the temporary with the permanent, or "the broad primrose path" which, in Whitehead's words, "leads to a nasty place," with the long and rocky road to genuine education. — James D. Koerner.

Liberty lies in the hearts of men and women; when it dies there, no constitution, no law, no court can save it; no constitution, no law, no court even can do much to help it. — Judge Learned Hand.

Lies, often detected and refuted, are still revived and repeated, in the hope that the refutation may have been forgotten, or that the frequency and boldness of the accusations may supply the place of truth and proof.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

EZIO PINZA, star of the prestigious Metropolitan Opera troupe, conquered new worlds when he opened opposite Mary Martin in that incomparable Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "South Pacific." Early in the record run of that show, Pinza dropped into a favorite old restaurant of his and ordered his customary dinner — about 12 courses, topped off by three pieces of apple pie. The waiter looked at him in amazement. "What's the matter with YOU?" demanded Pinza angrily. "Let me remind you: I may be singing musical comedy these days —but I still EAT grand opera!"

A PRISONER facing a 10-year sentence ran into a streak of extra bad luck shortly after he had been incarcerated in jail. First he had to have his tonsils removed, then his teeth extracted, and finally had his right arm cut off in a nasty accident in the machine shop. To cap it all, the warden dropped into the infirmary to tell him, "You're not fooling me, Briggs. You're just trying to escape from here piece by piece!"

College Appearance Much Changed As Buildings Rise, Are Demolished

As the College of Marin continues to undergo a face-lifting, students returning there this week won't know whether to grieve the temporary loss of a front lawn or admire the new fine arts building.

Most will probably do both, while noting many other changes in the college's appearance.

The lawns, removed for installation of an underground sprinkler system, was about 30 per cent replaced as classes started Tuesday. Walkways, spread from last year's width of three to five feet to new widths of seven to 12 feet, were in, and the remainder of the lawn was expected to be in by the end of the week.

Most classrooms in the new $1,932,900 fine arts building were ready for use, although much of the equipment is still to be installed and finishing construction touches will continue for most of the semester.

HIGHLIGHTS of the new building include a fully-equipped theater seating an audience of 604, a choral rehearsal hall for 114 persons, an instrumental rehearsal hall for 100, a music library with listening rooms for 40 students, and a studio theater for an audience of up to 100. At the entrance to the building is a wide lobby which will be used as an art gallery.

Students accustomed to using the circular driveway in front of the college will find that has been elongated, and the entrance is now on Laurel Avenue instead of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Outside lighting has been improved throughout the campus.

FIVE BUILDINGS from last year are missing, and more are scheduled to go. Two audio-visual buildings, a music practice building, a field house and a boiler room were demolished during the summer. The office building across Drake from the main campus, which now houses the public information office and duplicating center, is scheduled to be demolished in about one month, and its occupants will take up residence in Harlan Hall.

The second floor of Olney Hall, which contained two large rooms last year, now contains four small rooms.

The old Butler Building is being remodeled, and the college business office will be moved into it in about a month. The building housed band and choir rehearsals last year.

NEW STUDENTS this week found aid and comfort from the college's first information booth, sponsored by the Associated Students. Additional enlightenment could be found in the 24-page 1967-68 edition of the Mariner's Chart, which sports a cover so psychedelic that it can't be read. The Associated Students handbook, replete with photographs, was put together by Harry Lehmann, Gerry Sirocky, Eileen O'Connell, Susan Koph, Linda Jensen, Tom Ribar, and Steve Hopper.

Returning students who may have feared that last year's colorful lecture series, "Controversy 67," would end when its organizer, Dick Giovanolli, transferred to another college, need not have worried.

The Associated Students definitely plans to continue the series, although no one has yet been named to replace Giovanolli as its organizer.

Guilty Plea To Morals Charge

Richard Thomas Remillong, 38-year-old suspended Novato Public Works Department employee yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to lewd and lascivious behavior with a young girl.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled judgment Oct. 16.

Remillong, who entered the plea before a non-jury trial, molested the 5-year-old girl April 15 at his home at 19 Ruben Court, Novato.

Prison Inmates Give 340 Pints Of Blood

San Quentin inmates Tuesday donated 340 pints of blood to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, bringing their total this year to 766 pints, Associate Warden James W. L. Park reported.

Park said some 648 men volunteered for the prison's quarterly project, but time only allowed about half of them to be accepted.

Planners Deny SA Zone Change

A change of zoning from residential to planned residential for his 13-acre development on Hacienda Drive, was denied Rob Rose Tuesday night by Tiburon Planning Commission, according to Phil V. Scott, development administrator.

A final subdivision map for El Marinero Unit No. 1, below Mount Tiburon, was approved. Kurt Heath asked to divide 31 acres into 40 lots, for single-family development.

Mrs. Dorothee Farber's practice as an interior decorator in her residence, 390 Greenwood Beach Road, was accepted by the commission as a "home occupation" according to the zoning ordinance.

The meeting was adjourned to Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

14 More Gonorrhea Cases Are Reported

Fourteen cases of gonorrhea were reported by the county health department for last week, up 10 from the previous week.

Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, health officer, also reported 19 cases of streptococci infections in Marin.

Don't Confuse Pat With Rap, Although There Are Similarities

THE BROWN BOYS — Some correspondents confuse Rap Brown with Pat Brown, and I understand their mistake. Though, as far as I know, the two are not related, the striking similarity in names extends to much of their political philosophy. And their speeches, as recorded in the papers, make them almost indistinguishable to the casual reader.

For clarification, Rap is with SNCC and is currently out on bail; Pat was formerly with CDC (California Democratic Clubs) and is currently out of the gubernatorial job in Sacramento. And Rap is the younger.

Each wants a separate state for his people. Rap has not announced which commonwealth he prefers; Pat, of course, wants California returned to the Democrats.

BOTH CONTEND that anyone opposing them is against the Negro and the poor. Rap thus accuses LBJ, while Pat leveled similar charges against Reagan in the campaign, adding the indictment of anti-Semitism. Here the boys differ somewhat, since SNCC is now officially anti-Semitic and Rap may condemn Lyndon for pro-Semitism any day.

To both the public treasury is there to be raided, and any concern for it reeks of fascism. Indeed, Pat now asserts that Governor Reagan opposes good health, since the mounting cost of medical services has forced the state to make some cuts therein. To Reagan's point that he cannot pay out any more than he takes in, Pat triumphantly responds that, as governor, he did that very thing most successfully.

Rap violently opposes fighting the Viet Cong, and urges that Negroes should rather arm themselves against "Whitey" at home. While Pat is not an out-and-out dove, he recently endorsed (so, incidentally, did Hubert Humphrey) a state Demo candidate who is as much against the war as Rap.

Said candidate had all Rap's Black Power and the New Left behind him, besides Pat and Hubert and the Demo state chairman — but lost. Lost in a district where Democratic registration outnumbers the GOP by two to one. That tells something — or doesn't it?

STILL, YOU CAN'T lose them all, and Pat, gossip says, may yet wind up on the Supreme Court. Interestingly, some scuttlebutt — this from those who believe a peacenik will win in 1968 — even suggests Rap may wind up there, too.

A skeptic, I strongly suspect both rumors are mongered with tongue in cheek. I have, however, seen some equally incredible appointments in recent years and so am not prepared to wager against both Brown boys making it. And, if so, their judicial decisions will undoubtedly read alike, God help us all.

In any event, if you get confused, remember Rap is the younger one. And, come to think of it, shows up better on TV.

THE PESTS — I have a profusion of mail, both pro and con, on my recent columns on rats. Mainly pro, I am glad to say, but let me answer the con men. I am against rats, roaches, rattlesnakes, gophers and Japanese beetles, and am all for getting rid of them. But I don't believe they constitute a reason for shooting innocent people.

Incidentally, I note that Yugoslavia is suffering from an invasion of armies of hungry mice that have eaten up most of the crops. Can that, be blamed on race prejudice and the exertion of "white power" in suppressing the Negro?

THE CLERGY — Letters from a number of clergymen assure me they have spoken out in their pulpits against the riots, and several even enclose a copy of their texts. But one complains that the religious editors rarely run such items, preferring to note the sermons of those who demand a Marshall Plan for slum clearance. "If we don't clean up the people's attitudes first," he asks, "how can we hope to clean up their slums?"

I wish I knew, Reverend. Maybe we first ought to clean up the do-gooders who preach rights — without responsibility.
